As the saying goes, 'A picture is worth a thousand words...' so here's a picture to say, "That was fun!"

FEBRUARY 16, 2016 – WEEK IN PARLIAMENT UPDATE

Submitted by Jim Eglinski, MP – Yellowhead

This week's debate in Parliament largely centered on the Liberal Government's decision to recall our CF-18 fighter jets and refocus Canada's role in the fight against ISIS, as well as revisited the Bills on transparency of labour unions.

On Tuesday, Bill C-4 was debated at second reading. This Government Bill will repeal Bill C-377 and Bill C-525, which requires labour organizations to file a public information return with the Canada Revenue Agency on an annual basis. Should Bill C-4 pass, organizations such as labour unions will no longer be required to disclose their financial information to the public.

In the House on Wednesday and Friday, debate concentrated on Canada's contribution to the effort to combat ISIL. This week, Prime Minister Justin Trudeau officially grounded our CF-18 fighter jets, and decided to expand the 'advise and assist mission' of the Canadian Armed Forces (CAF) in Iraq and increase humanitarian aid in the region. This change of commitment was made before Parliament was able to vote on the matter.

Meetings for the Environment and Sustainable Development Committee, of which I am Vice-Chair, are held twice a week. During our meetings, we have discussed our respective interests ranging from clean water, climate change, biodiversity, pollution, and environment assessment/enforcement.

There are a number of issues that are facing our country today and I will continue to work hard to make sure that the government of Canada focuses on issues that matter.

FEDERAL LIBERAL DEBT

Submitted by Jim Eglinski, MP – Yellowhead

During the federal election, the Liberals suggested that they would take a balanced Conservative budget and transform it into a $10 billion deficit. Now, a new report by the National Bank of Canada states that the Liberal government could indeed see an accumulation of $90 billion in debt over the next 4 years due to their spending promises.

While the government cannot control the uncertainty in the global economy, it can control its actions during these challenging times. As Canadian families are worried about their jobs and financial security, now is not the time for out of control spending that will lead to waste and higher taxes. Governments need to remember that the money they collect belongs to hard working taxpayers and not to politicians or bureaucrats.

The new Liberal Government seems to be focusing on out of control spending rather than prudent financial management of our national economy.

I will work with the new government in the best interests of Canadians and our riding. Being fiscally responsible in this time of global uncertainty is in the best interest of the constituents in Yellowhead and I will deliver that message loud and clear to the Liberal Government in Ottawa.

APPLICATIONS PERIOD FOR CANADA SUMMER JOBS 2016 PROGRAM EXTENDED

Submitted by Jim Eglinski, MP – Yellowhead

The deadline to apply for funding through the Canada Summer Jobs Program has been extended to March 11, 2016. Canada Summer Jobs provides funding to not-for-profit organizations, public-sector employers, and small businesses with 50 or fewer employees to create summer job opportunities for young people aged 15-30 who are full-time students intending to return to their studies in the next school year.

I strongly encourage all local employers to apply for funding through the Canada Summer Jobs Program. The program consistently ensures that local employers are able to hire young workers for the summer. It is a great way for employers to hire young and skilled workers and also a great way for students to gain valuable work experience while also saving money for the following school year.

SPRUCE GROVE GUN CLUB DENIED RIGHT TO APPEAL

Submitted by Doug Downs

The Alberta Court of Appeals has denied the Spruce Grove Gun Club the right to appeal the Parkland County Subdivision Development Appeal Board's decision to rescind approval of the Club's Development Permit to operate its outdoor shooting range.

"We're disappointed but we always knew it's difficult to appeal decisions made at the County level," said Club President Rob Hall. "the rules make it hard to overturn these types of decisions."

The Spruce Grove Gun Club (SGGC) began operating in its current location in Parkland County in 1972. In recent years, the County approved continuing operation through the approval of a Development Permit. In 2015, 13 neighbours to the Club, who had moved into the neighbourhood recently, appealed approval of the Development Permit to the County's Subdivision Development Appeal Board (SDAB). The SDAB found the range was in full compliance with all safety (federal) and noise (municipal) regulations and bylaws but still chose to deny renewal of the Development Permit effectively leading to the shutdown of the shooting range in November of 2015.

"The issue is really about fairness," said Hall. "The County decided it was okay to develop residential homes within hearing proximity of the shooting range and our neighbours bought their homes knowing the range was there. There are no noise or safety issues with the range – the County has acknowledged that. But the range is still shut down. That's not fair and the Club will now be considering all of its legal options to either get the range re-opened or have the County pay for a new range."

Meantime the SGGC is very interested in continuing to work with the County to find a mutually agreeable way to re-open the range. "We've always tried to be good neighbours, even when we had no neighbours."

DEPRESSION NOW EQUAL TO HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE AS A TOP REASON CANADIANS SEE PHYSICIANS

Submitted by CNW Group Ltd

TORONTO, Jan. 26, 2016 / CNW/ - New research announced today by Morneau Shepell found that depression is now equal to high blood pressure as a top reason Canadians see physicians. Depression was the top-ranked condition by 24 per cent of physician respondents, equal to high blood pressure, which was the top-ranked condition by a different 24 per cent of physician respondents. The results of the national survey, which polled physicians, employees and employers across Canada, will be presented January 27 at the Company's 5th annual Employers Connect event.

Comparatively, musculoskeletal disorders were the top-ranked condition by 11 per cent of physician respondents. Furthermore, 63 per cent of physicians reported that depression, anxiety disorders or stress-related issues had the fastest increase in cases they had seen over the last two to three years.

The national survey, also found that a large majority (82 per cent) of employees who reported struggling with mental health issues and two thirds (67 per cent) of employees who reported struggling with stress symptoms said it impacts their work. Comparatively, only half (53 per cent) of employees who reported struggling with physical health issues said it impacts their work.

"Each year, we see an increase in employees seeking support for stress and anxiety – conditions that are attributable to everything from the uncertainty of an unstable economy to difficulties in a personal relationship," said Alan Torrie, President and CEO, Morneau Shepell. "These concerns often have a negative effect on workplace productivity. On the other hand, employers who offer mental wellness support often see a strong relationship between mental health and engagement at work."

Workplace engagement levels are strongly correlated with mental health issues

The survey found that more than two thirds (67 per cent) of highly engaged employees reported excellent or very good mental health, compared to less than half (35 per cent) who are not engaged. Additionally, workplace stress has been found to have a higher impact on engagement than personal stress.

Nearly half (47 per cent) of employees who are not engaged reported extreme workplace stress but less than one in five (18 per cent) of employees who are not engaged reported extreme personal stress.

Upon looking further into the reasons for stress at work, employees reported that the sources of workplace stress are due primarily to emotional or interpersonal issues (e.g., office culture, communication, conflict), as indicated by 60 per cent of employees. Comparatively, nearly half (43 per cent) of employees reported that job-related issues (e.g., deadlines) are the source of workplace stress and only 14 per cent of employees reported that physical work-related (e.g., lifting heavy objects) issues are the source of workplace stress.

Half (51 per cent) of managers surveyed believe they have employees with mental health issues

Meanwhile, nearly one in four (22 per cent) of managers surveyed believe at least one of their employees has a substance abuse issue. Less than one in 10 (7 per cent) of employees reported substance abuse issues.

“It’s clear that a large number of managers are seeing behaviours such as lowered productivity, increased absences, anxious behaviour or a disheveled appearance that would lead them to this belief,” said Paula Allen, Vice President, Research and Integrative Solutions. “This shows how important it is for managers to know how to respond appropriately.”

The stigma around mental health issues remains apparent in the workplace

Though conversations around mental health are continuing to evolve and become more commonplace, employees are not completely comfortable acknowledging the problems at work. Two thirds (66 per cent) of employees who took time off work for a mental health issue did not report it and, as such, the days were not recorded as an official absence. “Unrecorded absences affect employee morale, workplace productivity and the company’s bottom line,” said Adam Kelly, Vice President, Absence Management Solutions.

Almost one third (31 per cent) of employers said support for mental wellness in their organization has improved over the last two to three years, compared to 62 per cent who said it stayed the same.

“It is encouraging to see that Canadian employers are reducing stigma and increasing their focus on mental health issues,” said President and CEO, Alan Torrie. “Support for workplace mental health is improving but there is still more to be done.”

About the Survey

The purpose of the survey by Morneau Shepell, conducted in October 2015, was to provide insights into workplace mental health from the perspectives of employees, employers and physicians, with 1,223 respondents in total. The margins of error for the survey are +/- 3.1 per cent for employees, +/- 9.8 per cent for employers and +/- 9.8 per cent for physicians; valid 19 times out of 20.

The Company is presenting the initial survey findings at Employers Connect, its 5th annual summit on workplace mental health being held in five cities across Canada on Wednesday, January 27, 2016.

FIRST NATIONS STUDENTS TO BENEFIT FROM NEW EDUCATION PARTNERSHIP

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Students from five First Nations in northern Alberta will benefit from an agreement between the Government of Alberta and the Kee Tas Kee Now Tribal Council.

This agreement is the first of its kind in Alberta.

The Kee Tas Kee Now agreement outlines the framework for establishing a First Nations education authority. It enhances supports and strengthens the capacity to provide education to these students in order to increase attendance and high school completion. Students will continue to receive education in a culturally-relevant environment in their community, while benefitting from improved educational supports similar to those of other students in Alberta such as curriculum development and technology.

This expands current programs that incorporate traditional skills such as hunting and fishing, by enhancing elements of literacy and numeracy, science and how to be stewards of the environment. The agreement was developed with input from Alberta Education, Indigenous Relations and Kee Tas Kee Now education partners.

“Our government is committed to working collaboratively with our First Nations, Métis and Inuit education partners and with the federal government to strengthen First Nations education in Alberta. We want to ensure First Nations students have the instructional supports they need, while receiving an education that reflects their rich culture and perspectives.”

David Eggen, Minister of Education

This agreement provides a framework for how other school authorities can work together to develop strategies to improve the educational outcomes of First Nations students in their respective jurisdictions. It supports the Premier’s commitment to Truth and Reconciliation and allows Alberta Education to continue to implement its commitments in the Memorandum of Understanding for First Nations Education in Alberta.

“I am pleased with the support being provided by the Government of Alberta as it will help give our children the education they need to build a successful future. I look forward to working together on this important initiative.”

Robert Grey, Kee Tas Kee Now Tribal Council, Grand Chief

“This agreement speaks to our government’s commitment to a renewed relationship with Indigenous communities throughout the province. We are proud of this partnership with the Kee Tas Kee Now Tribal Council to enhance the access and delivery of education for the community’s youth.”

Richard Feehan, Minister of Indigenous Relations

Kee Tas Kee Now Tribal Council has been providing advisory services for 20 years to its members from the Loon River, Lubicon Lake Band, Peerless Trout, Whitefish Lake and Woodland Cree First Nations.

Thank you to Diane Wood for organizing the event and to Bob, Jay, Lorne, Derald, Heike and Pat St. H. for preparing and serving a delicious four course meal while new volunteer Al looked after the kitchen clean-up and dishes. Thank you to everyone who helped make this event a very special and enjoyable evening.

CHANGING YOUR LAST NAME

While many brides opt to take their husbands' surnames upon tying the knot, over the years the popularity of such a decision has ebbed and flowed. Recent years have suggested the practice is once again gaining steam.

A 2011 study published in Names: A Journal of Onomastics indicates that younger brides are more likely to embrace the tradition of taking their husbands' names in marriage. According to the study, women who married between the ages of 35 and 39 were 6.4 times more likely to keep their maiden names than those who married between the ages of 20 and 24.

Many brides view taking their spouse's name as the natural transition from being a singleton to being a married woman. Other brides prefer they share the same last name as their future children, making the choice to take their husband's name a logical decision. Some brides feel having the same last name as their husbands helps them feel more like a family.

Changing one's name also may make it easier to deal with various issues. Finances, travel and even parenting concerns may be easier when women take their husbands' last names than when they don't.

But some brides still prefer to keep their maiden names or hyphenate those names with their husbands' surnames. Some may view changing their names as sacrificing their personal identities, while others may want to hold on to a family name they are proud of. Interesting names also can be hard to give up. Brides who find taking their husband's name would be a tongue-twister may prefer to forego this tradition.

Very often women who occupy positions of prominence in their professions keep their maiden names, feeling that taking their husbands' names will affect the cache they have built up thus far. Women uncertain of what to do in such situations can keep their maiden names professionally and still change their names legally.

Changing one's last name is a personal preference and a decision that couples should discuss together. Discuss the decision well in advance of the wedding so that both parties are aware of each other's feelings on the subject before tying the knot.

UNDERGARMENTS CAN MAKE OR BREAK WEDDING LOOKS

As guests' eyes are trained on couples come their wedding days, it is no surprise that both the bride and groom want to look flawless on their big days. Men and women will spend thousands of dollars on clothing, hairstyling, makeup, teeth whitening, fitness classes, and more to ensure they look their best. While couples may be particularly concerned with their wedding day appearance, what they wear under their clothing - particularly for women - can impact how clothes fit and look.

Choosing the right bra or supportive undergarments can play a crucial role in how a gown fits and whether or not brides achieve that picture-perfect look. Wearing the wrong undergarments can negatively affect a bride's appearance and make her extremely uncomfortable.

According to a study done by Swiss lingerie company Triumph, a large number of women are choosing their bras incorrectly. The international survey of 10,000 women found that 64 percent of them are wearing the wrong size bras. If women are wearing the wrong undergarments for everyday looks, it stands to reason that their wedding choices may not be spot on, either.

Undergarments should be purchased and brought to all fittings as soon as a gown is selected. In fact, it often is a good idea to ask the bridal store employees to suggest a bra or corset that will complement the gown and remain invisible beneath the dress. Some shops will make bras available when trying on gowns. Brides are not obligated to purchase undergarments where they purchase their gowns, but take note of the brand and style and find a similar one elsewhere that fits with your budget if you don't want to buy at the store.

Pay attention to the gown's fabric and how dense it is. Certain shapewear, including bras, that have a lot of boning in them to shape and support the body can show under bridal dresses without a lot of layers. Always try on the bra with the gown to gauge the finished look. You may opt for simpler and plain lingerie styles so that you will be guaranteed a seamless appearance. Nude-colored bras tend to be less noticeable than white. You always can purchase something with more pizzazz to change into for the wedding night. Some dresses with plunging necklines or backless designs may necessitate other options. Sew-in bra cups are another option that can lend invisible support.

Women with more ample busts may want to select gowns that will allow for bras with supportive straps to be worn. This way there is no worry about strapless bras or other style lingerie slipping down.

In addition to bras, other types of shapewear can enhance certain areas of the body or downplay perceived flaws. Shapewear can smooth and pull in stomachs. Choose boy shorts or thong-style cuts for a seamless finish. Shapers can smooth out bulges on the back, legs and hips, too. There also are special shorts that have some padding in the rear to create a more curvy look.

Bras and other shapewear can make a world of difference in how wedding attire looks and feels. Invest in some quality pieces that will highlight wardrobes to their fullest.

CLEVER TAKES ON THE 'SOMETHING OLD, NEW, BORROWED, BLUE' TRADITION

Wedding day tokens of good luck come in many forms, but “the something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue (a sixpence in your shoe)” adage remains one of the most popular luck-enhancing wedding traditions. According to the bridal resource The Knot, this tradition stems from an Olde English rhyme. Something old represents continuity; something new is for optimism for the future; something borrowed stands for borrowed happiness; and something blue is for purity, love and fidelity. The sixpence in your shoe is a wish for good fortune and prosperity, but this is not a tradition widely celebrated outside of the United Kingdom or British territories.

These traditions can add some creative flair and personality to wedding ceremonies. There’s no end to the inventive combinations of items brides can carry to increase their good fortunes.

Something old

Something old is one of the easier mementos to obtain. There is a good chance that someone in the family is willing to pass an item down to the bride that she can include in her wedding wardrobe. It also can be something the bride may have in her own memory box. Beads taken from a grandmother’s dress or a swatch of fabric from a beloved toy doll are creative ideas that can be sewn into inconspicuous places on gowns.

Something new

Brides already purchase many new items for their wedding day looks, so “something new” should not be too hard to find. Couples may want to work together to find something new they can both carry so they have a matching set upon tying the knot. Interlocking charm bracelets or key-chains may work. What about the groom carrying a small padlock and the bride the key? Quirky couples can each wear one sock from a pair. Get clever and have fun.

Something borrowed

Much like something old, something borrowed is yet another way to pay homage to a friend or family member. It’s also one way to add a sentimental twist to everyday items.

Borrow a grandfather’s handkerchief to wrap around the stems of the wedding bouquet. Exchange vows with the original rings used by a distant relative at their own wedding. Flatter a close friend by wearing the same veil she did.

Something blue

There are many ways to incorporate “something blue” into your wedding ceremony. Brides can paint their toenails blue or wear blue shoes under their gowns. Sew a patch from a pair of denim jeans into the bodice of the dress. Paint the bottom of your shoes bright blue so they stand out when kneeling at the altar. Blue sapphire or topaz jewelry can add an exotic look to the wedding wardrobe.

With a little ingenuity, brides can easily incorporate “something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue” into their wedding ceremonies.

HELPFUL HINTS WHEN PLANNING FLORAL ARRANGEMENTS

When planning their weddings, couples may find themselves becoming experts on subjects they previously never gave much thought. Thanks to the cost of weddings, today's couples must make each decision carefully, and that may result in hours of research and discussion.

One of the big decisions couples must make when planning their weddings concerns their floral arrangements. The right floral arrangements won't break the bank but will add substantial aesthetic appeal to ceremonies and receptions. It can be difficult for couples to achieve that balance of cost and look on their own, so the following are a few helpful hints for couples when choosing their wedding day floral arrangements.

• Work with a florist you trust and like. All florists are not the same, so finding one you can trust and will enjoy working with can make all the difference. Many couples have little or no experience with floral arrangements prior to planning their weddings, so it can calm couples' nerves to work with someone they trust in such situations. Florists with significant wedding experience will no doubt make a host of recommendations based on couples' budgets and preferences, so couples might be more inclined to listen to that advice if they are working with someone they trust. Ask relatives, friends or coworkers if they can recommend any florists whose wedding work they are familiar with.

• Choose in-season or native flowers. Couples working with tight budgets may want to choose in-season flowers or those native to the area where they will be tying the knot. In-season and native flowers won't need to be ordered or shipped in from afar, which can be costly. In-season and native flowers tend to be more abundant as well, and the greater their availability the less couples are likely to pay for them.

• Repurpose floral arrangements. Another way to save on floral arrangements is to repurpose flowers throughout the day. Once bridesmaids no longer need their bouquets, use them to decorate gift tables or cocktail areas. Floral arrangements on display during the ceremony can be removed once you have both said "I do" and moved into the reception area where they can be enjoyed through the night. Go over any repurposing you plan to do with your reception hall manager prior to your wedding day so he knows where and when to move the arrangements.

• Go big. Some flowers simply bloom larger than others, and choosing such flowers may help you save money since you won't need to buy as many flowers as you would if you were to go with smaller blooms. Once you find a florist to work with, discuss your options with regard to doing more with less. Many florists embrace the challenge to be creative within a budget, so you might just be surprised and impressed by what they come up with.

Floral arrangements can set the mood for a wedding ceremony and reception, and even couples with little or no experience choosing arrangements can end up with stunning displays.

THE KINDNESS OF STRANGERS

Submitted by Marney Green

The Christmas season has come and gone for another year. Once again Santa's Helpers had another stellar season. As I write this article to thank the generous people of this community for their continued support of this essential program, I am taken aback by the kindness of strangers. Santa's Helpers has been part of this community for over twenty-six years! I've been involved for that long. But it was going on long before that. Every year there are new surprises that make us realize what an amazing town we live in.

The thank you list this year is rather extensive. To start with we would like to thank all of the local business that support us. They assist us in many different ways. From having coin & donation boxes in their business to challenging staff members to raise funds for us. Also the incredible financial donations we receive every year from them help us out tremendously. Even though tough economic times their support amazes us. We would also like to thank Pastor Rick Foster as well as his helpers, from Onoway Baptist Church and the Lac Ste. Anne East Food Bank for their efforts in coordinating this undertaking. We also would like to thank O.E.S. and O.H.S. students as well as staff for their continued effort to make sure nobody gets forgotten at Christmas. Another well-deserved thank you goes to the Tri Leisure Center in Spruce Grove for their incredibly generous donations of facility family passes that we get to include with our hampers. This year we would also like to thank Joel Magnus of Famosa Pizza in Spruce Grove for his kind donation of movie passes to add to our hampers as well. To add to this list is the Local 1460 Millwright Union for the kind donation of toys. The Onoway Library and our elf Lloyd for his coin rolling ability! There are also a few other individuals we would like to thank for their assistance, Sue Robinson and Dean Popadynetz your generosity is very much appreciated! Last but not least THANK YOU Onoway! Your kindness and giving spirit astonish every year.

But there is one more thank you that I need to include. It began as a little bit of a mystery for us. But with some clarification we were able to solve the mystery. It began with an extremely generous donation from Thompson Brothers Construction on behalf of a wonderful man named Mel Ulan. Mel was a valued employee of this company for nineteen years. He was well liked and respected by his co-workers. When he recently passed away these coworkers from Fort Hills, Poplar, Fort Mac and Suncor jobsites raised funds in his memory. Those donations were then matched by Larry Thompson. Their efforts were the generously donated to us at Santa's Helpers. The mystery was, why us? As it was explained to me Mel had recently purchased property in the area and was in the process of building his retirement home here when he passed away. His crews fondly remember him always reminding them to "call or go see their moms" when they were leaving on days off. So they thought it would be fitting to donate on his behalf to a charity that would benefit mothers and their children. That's how we became beneficiaries of their generosity. Words cannot express the gratitude we have for Mel and the employees of Thompson Brothers Construction. You have helped 87 children in the area have a much brighter Christmas.

Once again Onoway you amaze us at the generous nature of this great community we live in. The kindness of strangers is truly appreciated by those of us at Santa's Helpers. Thank you for all that you do to keep us going every year. We would like at this time to wish you and yours health and happiness for 2016.

Gratefully yours
Santa's Elves

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
