PARLIAMENT UPDATE – WEEK OF MARCH 6, 2017

Submitted by Jim Eglinski, MP – Yellowhead

This week in Parliament, we discussed topics including national security, genetically modified food, taxation, and post-traumatic stress disorder.

The following was debated in the House:

- Bill C-22 – An Act to establish the National Security and Intelligence Committee of Parliamentarians and to make consequential amendments to certain Acts (Report Stage)
- Bill C-23 – An Act respecting the preclearance of persons and goods in Canada and the United States (Second Reading)
- Bill C-203 – An Act to amend the Supreme Court Act (understanding the official languages) (Second Reading)
- Bill C-211 – Federal Framework on Post-Traumatic Stress Disorder (Second Reading)

• Bill C-291 – An Act to amend the Food and Drugs Act (genetically modified food) (Second Reading)

• Bill C-323 – An Act to amend the Income Tax Act (rehabilitation of historic property) (Second Reading)

• Bill S-201 – Genetic Non-Discrimination Act (Report Stage)

• NDP Motion – Tax Fairness

• Conservative Motion – Canadian Forces Tax Benefits

Last week, I spoke on Bill C-23 but was cut short on time. Therefore, I had the opportunity to continue my thoughts on Monday. Also on Monday, I took part in debate on Bill C-211. You can read my comments on the corresponding day's Hansard at: <http://www.parl.gc.ca/HouseChamber-Business/ChamberHome.aspx>

I am pleased that Bill C-211 passed Second Reading and is now before the Standing Committee on Health. I am also very pleased that Bill S-217 passed Third Reading with unanimous support by all parties except for the Liberals, who were divided on the vote. The bill compels prosecutors and judges to take into consideration a criminal's past record, prior to granting bail. This comes after the tragic shooting of Constable Wynn on January 17, 2015, in St. Alberta, Alberta.

In the Standing Committee on Environment and Sustainable Development (ENVI), we continued our review of The Canadian Environmental Protection Act, 1999, as well as discussed federal protected areas and conservation objectives. For more information on these meetings, visit: www.parl.gc.ca/Committees/en/ENVI

This week, I attended 10 meetings, two events, and recorded a radio message. My next update will be on my travels throughout the riding as Parliament will not be sitting.

RIDING UPDATE

Submitted by Jim Eglinski, MP – Yellowhead

Riding Update – Week of March 13, 2017

Parliament was down this week, allowing me to spend time in the riding. I had the opportunity to attend a number of community events and meetings, as well as speak to local students.

Last weekend, I spoke at the Flag Raising Ceremony of the Franco-Albertan flag at École Mountain View in Hinton. This was a great opportunity to celebrate the richness and diversity of a vibrant and growing Albertan Francophonie. Also last weekend, I attended the Jasper Pride Festival, as well as a St. Patrick's Day Fundraiser in Niton Junction.

On Monday, I had the opportunity to speak to a Grade 6 class at St. Anthony School in Drayton Valley. That evening, I attended the Mayerthorpe Town Council Meeting.

On Tuesday, I was back in Jasper to attend the Jasper National Park Annual Public Forum, where the implementation of the Jasper National Park Management Plan was discussed, including the proposed route of the Icefields Trail.

On Saturday, I will be speaking at the Rimbey Fish & Game Banquet. This event will be raising money to go towards educational programs and conservation efforts to ensure that local fish and wildlife continue to thrive well into the future.

I will be heading back to Ottawa on Sunday. My next update will be on the happenings of Parliament as it will sit next week.

Week of February 27, 2017

Parliament was down this week, allowing me to spend time in the riding. I spoke to students, met with constituents, participated in a press conference in Edmonton, and attended the leadership debate.

Last weekend, I had the privilege of attending the Edson First Responders Dinner, recognizing the great contributions these local heroes make to our community. Having served as an RCMP officer for 35 years, I understand and appreciate the sacrifices these men and women make every day when they go to work.

On Monday, I participated in the Alberta Jobs Taskforce press conference in Edmonton. At the event, we presented a report on the state of jobs and the economy in Alberta. You can read the report at www.albertajobstaskforce.ca/. In case you missed the press conference, you can watch it on my Facebook page: www.facebook.com/jimeglinski.mp/

On Tuesday, I visited Niton Central School where I had lunch in a restaurant ran by grade 5/6 students! After lunch, I had the opportunity to speak with grade nine students, before attending the Conservative Leadership Debate in Edmonton.

On Wednesday, I had the pleasure of meeting Sarah Wheale, who was selected to be on the Prime Minister's Youth Council in Ottawa. This council of youth and young adults will meet with the Prime Minister multiple times a year to advise him on national issues. Living in our very own Village of Breton, Ms. Wheale has roots in agriculture, has experience in the energy sector and understands the demographics of Alberta. She will be an excellent representative of this province and our riding.

On Thursday, I spoke to several high school classes at Parkland Composite High School, and the rest of the week was spent in my riding office in Edson meeting with constituents.

I will attend a meeting in Evansburg and meet with constituents on Saturday before heading back to Ottawa on Sunday. My next update will be on the happenings of Parliament as it will sit next week.

LEDUC RCMP LAY FURTHER CHARGES IN LEDUC COUNTY HOME INVASION

Submitted by Leduc RCMP

Update #3

On October 9, 2016 a home invasion occurred in Leduc County. The Leduc RCMP General Investigation Section (GIS) maintained carriage of this investigation.

Konrad Chittick was identified as one of the suspects and on December 20, 2016 he was charged with 19 criminal code charges. A warrant for his arrest was issued and he was arrested in Edmonton by Edmonton Police Service on January 7, 2017.

He remains in custody and is awaiting a preliminary trial in October, 2017.

Continued investigation led to the identification of two more suspects. On March 14, 2017 40-year-old Kristopher Rowe, of Edmonton, was arrested in Edmonton.

On March 15, 23-year-old Ashley Sampson, of Edmonton, was arrested in Edmonton.

Both subjects also remain in custody and face the same 19 criminal code charges as Chittick, including Robbery with a firearm, break and enter, pointing a firearm, aggravated assault, possession of a prohibited weapon and forcible confinement. They are both scheduled for their first court appearance on March 23 in the Provincial Court of Alberta in Leduc.

"We are pleased with the progress we have made to identify these three individuals who are now before the Court." says Corporal Leanne MacMillan with the GIS Unit in Leduc.

JOKE OF THE WEEK

Morris, an 82 year-old man, went to the doctor to get a physical. A few days later, the doctor saw Morris walking down the street with a gorgeous young woman on his arm. A couple of days later, the doctor spoke to Morris and said, 'You're really doing great, aren't you?' Morris replied, 'Just doing what you said, Doc: 'Get a hot mamma and be cheerful.' The doctor said, 'I didn't say that. I said, 'You've got a heart murmur; be careful.'

Spring 2017 HomeRENO

The Businesses in the following Guide can be your One Stop Solution to all your Renovation Needs!

FACTORS TO CONSIDER WHEN PLANNING A HOME OFFICE

As technology has made working remotely easier, more and more professionals are working from home. Working from home can help working parents save money on childcare costs and help all workers avoid rush hour traffic jams and the costs of commuting to and from the office.

The right working environment is essential for men and women who work from home. An environment that's conducive to work can help people increase their productivity and make their employers more likely to allow more employees to work from home. Professionals who are new to working from home may find it takes some time before they can create the perfect working environment, but the following are a few factors to consider when planning a home office.

Space

One of the disadvantages to working from home is that remote workers don't have access to the same level of equipment as in the main office, such as color copiers or scanners. If you want to include even scaled-down versions of such equipment in your office, you will need ample space. In addition, less spacious home offices can feel too tight and enclosed, making workers uncomfortable and less enthusiastic about working every day. Pick a spot in your home that affords room for your equipment and the ability to move around so you don't feel cramped throughout the workday.

Lighting

Lighting is another factor remote workers must consider when they're planning their home offices. Natural light can provide an energetic boost and improve your mood, so choose a room in your home that gets lots of sunlight during the day. Many professionals who work remotely do so from the basements of their homes, which can make it difficult to rely on natural light. If the basement is the only location in your home that can fit a home office, look for lighting sources that replicate daylight so you are not working in dark quarters. Speak with your physician about how to arrange lighting to reduce eyestrain caused by staring at a computer.

Connectivity

Connectivity also must be considered when planning a home office. While wireless Internet has made Internet dead zones less problematic, certain areas or rooms in your home may still be touch-and-go with regard to Internet connectivity. Such areas should be avoided when choosing a room for your home office, as it can be difficult to remain productive if your connection to your office's external server is routinely compromised. Find an area where the wireless connection is always strong.

Distractions

While your home might be empty for much of the day, you don't want to be distracted when the kids come home from school or when your spouse or roommate arrives home from work. Avoid putting your home office too close to popular hangout areas in your home, such as the kitchen and the living room. Instead, choose a room where you have lots of privacy so you can focus on your work and won't be routinely interrupted.

Working from home can pay numerous dividends, but professionals who telework must put careful thought into the rooms or areas of their homes where they plan to work.

ADD CURB APPEAL TO YOUR PROPERTY

Many people are familiar with the idea that a strong first impression can go a long way. While that idea is most often referenced in regard to personal interactions, it's also applicable to real estate.

When selling a home, homeowners who emphasize curb appeal may find it far easier to sell their homes. Curb appeal refers to the impression a home's exterior makes on people seeing the home for the first time. In 2014, the online real estate database Zillow® surveyed real estate agents and found that curb appeal was one of the five most important factors when selling a home.

Projects that improve curb appeal can be vast undertakings or simpler projects, and the following are a handful of projects to improve a home's curb appeal that run the gamut from simple to complex.

- Clean up the yard. Cleaning up the yard is among the simpler yet most effective projects to improve a home's curb appeal. When selling their homes, homeowners should clear the yard of any clutter, including kids' toys, grass clippings or items that might be scattered throughout the yard. A cluttered yard suggests homeowners do not care much about their home's appearance, and that may lead buyers to think that indifference extended to maintaining the home's interior as well. Many buyers will ignore properties without any external aesthetic appeal, but cleaning up the yard does not require much effort or expense on the part of sellers.

- Make the main entryway more inviting. Creating a more inviting entryway won't be as simple as cleaning up the yard, but it can help create a strong first impression without breaking the bank. To begin, remove plants and furniture from the front porch or area surrounding the doorway, as such items can create a cluttered feel. If the front door is old, replace it. Custom doors may be expensive, but they might add the wow factor buyers are looking for. If a new door is beyond your means or just unnecessary, repaint the door, ideally in a color that complements the color of your home and the surrounding landscape.

- Address pavement problems. Paving problems are not necessarily an expensive fix, but the cost of repairing driveways and walkways can add up if it's been awhile since these areas were refurbished. Still, one of the first things buyers will notice when getting out of their cars is the ground they're walking on, so patch and repair or even replace driveways and walkways that have fallen into disrepair.

- Add or upgrade outdoor living spaces. Outdoor living spaces also can set a property apart from others on the market. A recent study from the National Association of Realtors found that buyers would not hesitate to pay asking price for homes with outdoor living spaces. When adding or upgrading outdoor living spaces, try to de-personalize the spaces as much as possible, as buyers want to picture themselves, and not the sellers, enjoying these areas. Include some comfortable furniture, adequate lighting and a dining area in your outdoor living space as well.

Curb appeal can add a lot to a home, while lack of such appeal can make a home difficult to sell. Homeowners who want to sell their properties for asking price or more should address curb appeal before putting their homes on the market.

THE PROBLEM WITH HARD WATER

Hard water can cause scaling, deposits inside of pipes, reduced cleaning ability, and several other problems.

Home ownership opens people's eyes to many new experiences, even requiring homeowners to familiarize themselves with certain things they never encountered as renters. Homeowners become novice plumbers, electricians, horticulturists, and even chemists as they wade through the projects and repairs involved with owning a home.

Outside of high school chemistry class, you may never have given thought to water composition and how it changes. However, once you become a homeowner, you may have to pay special attention to the type of water bubbling out of your faucets. Hard water is a common concern, and it can affect appliances and other parts of the home.

What is hard water?

Hard water affects about 85 percent of the United States, according to the Water Quality Association. Although not harmful to human health, hard water can impact one's daily life in other ways.

Hard water is formed when water moves through soil and rock. It dissolves very small amounts of minerals and holds them in a solution. Calcium and magnesium are the most common minerals to turn water "hard." The more magnesium and calcium water dissolves, the harder it becomes.

From nuisance to damaging

Hard water can not only be a minor headache, but also something more serious. Hard water can interfere with various cleaning tasks and also personal grooming. Clothes washed in hard water may not be fully clean and may appear dingy. Hard water can cause a film on surfaces, such as bath tiles and tubs. Some people find that their hair and skin can appear dull and sticky due to hard water.

Hard water can have other effects, too. Over time, the water can deposit minerals on the inside of pipes, reducing water flow. If these deposits grow thick, you may have a plumbing issue on your hands. Furthermore, mineral deposits can harm appliances, such as water heaters, washing machines and dishwashers. Eventually, hard water may render these appliances ineffective, and they will need to be replaced.

Treatment options

Considering hard water is such a common concern, a number of treatment options exist. The main types of water-softening systems use either a packaged water softener or a mechanical water-softening unit.

Packaged water softeners are chemicals that bond with the calcium and magnesium ions in the water so that they cannot interfere with cleaning efficiency. These chemicals fall into two categories: precipitating and nonprecipitating.

Precipitating softeners are borax and washing soda and can affect pH levels of water and make water cloudy. Nonprecipitating softeners use phosphates. Alkalinity won't be increased, and usually there is no cloudiness or buildup. These products are typically added to laundry loads and the like and are not recommended for drinking water.

Mechanical water-softening systems are hooked up directly to the plumbing of the house. They are ion-exchange systems that will add salt to the water. Although it can be safe to drink, softened water may not be recommended for those who are on low-sodium diets.

Hard water is a problem many homeowners have to face. It can affect a home's appliances' performance and cleaning abilities. Water hardness can be managed, and it is best to consult with an expert water-softening system manufacturer about your options.

SUSTAINABLE FLOORING OPTIONS ABOUND

Kitchen and bathroom remodeling projects tend to make great investments, earning homeowners significant returns when they sell their homes down the road. But flooring upgrades are another home renovation project that can attract attention and help sellers when they put their homes on the market.

Home flooring options abound, and it is easy to get excited and overwhelmed about flooring renovation projects. When choosing new flooring materials, homeowners should keep in mind the latest consumer trends, as those trends might help them recoup more of their flooring investment down the road.

One popular flooring trend is the use of sustainable materials. In addition to the more widely known benefits of choosing sustainable flooring, such as protecting natural resources and reducing a home's carbon footprint, sustainable flooring can help reduce indoor air pollution. Various studies from the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency have shown that indoor air pollutant levels may be higher indoors than outdoors. A major contributor to indoor air pollution are the volatile organic compounds, or VOCs, being off-gassed by carpeting and other flooring in a home.

Flooring manufacturers and designers are embracing the green design and remodeling movement. Today there are many beautiful and sustainable eco-flooring options. Here are some of the more popular materials.

- Bamboo: Contrary to popular belief, bamboo is not a wood, but a grass. It is a fast-growing grass, and that makes it a smart choice in many design applications. Also, unlike wood, which will absorb moisture and can warp, bamboo repels water and can be used for flooring in areas where one wouldn't think to put wood, such as in bathrooms, entryways or mudrooms. Bamboo is naturally very light in color, but can be stained in many different hues to give homeowners more options.

- Green carpeting: Consumers can now find a wide range of sustainable carpets and rugs that are available at competitive prices. Wool carpets made with undyed or vegetable-dyed yarns and minimal glues are some options. Some carpets are even made from recycled content, such as rubber and plastics. Water-based, low-VOC adhesives paired with recycled cotton padding can reduce the toxicity and impact of carpeting even further.

- Cork: Growing in popularity, cork is a material harvested from the bark of cork trees found in the forests of the Mediterranean. The bark grows back every three years, so it is a handy renewable resource. Cork boasts fire-retardant properties and may naturally repel insects. It can usually be stained to suit various color schemes.

- Rubber: Rubber flooring may call to mind fitness gyms and playground safety substrate, but it's also slowly finding its way into homes. Made from recycled tires, rubber flooring is flexible underfoot and can be long-lasting and colorful.

- Reclaimed wood: Rather than purchasing brand new hardwood planks for flooring, homeowners can opt for reclaimed wood reused from other building applications. After some sanding, staining and finishing, reclaimed wood provides homeowners with the opportunity to choose traditional hardwood flooring without any concerns about deforestation.

Eco-friendly flooring materials continue to evolve and can be smart choices in today's homes.
