Riding Update

On Thursday, I visited grade six students at Pine Grove Middle School in Edson. The following day I met with grades three, four, five, and six students at Yellowhead Koinonia School in Edson. Later, I met with Mayor Herb Castle of Grande Cache and then on to Grande Prairie for more meetings, followed by a couple of days visiting friends.

I will be in the riding next week, as Parliament will still be on recess. My next update will be on my travels throughout our beautiful riding of Yellowhead.

Week of April 24, 2017

This week I met with constituents in and around my Edson constituency office, and on Thursday I met with CN Police to discuss the railroad crossing issues in Edson. We are attempting to resolve the problem.

I attended an event hosted at MacEwan University on Friday, where I met with youth and young conservative leaders. I always enjoy meeting with young people with an interest in politics, and sharing with them how they can influence change and serve as productive and thoughtful citizens.

I had the pleasure of attending and speaking at the Royal Canadian Legion's District 8 Rally, hosted by Edson's Joe Wynne Branch #51. I am proud of the past contributions of veterans to our freedom and security, as well as the present contributions of legions to our communities.

I also enjoyed the reopening celebration at the Chateau Jasper, a hotel that has been under renovation for the last six months. Tourism is an important part of the local economy in Jasper and the surrounding area, and I am pleased to see investments being made in the region. We are expecting a very busy summer for Jasper Park due to Parks Canada's free Discovery Pass given out for Canada's 150th birthday.

I will be heading back to Ottawa on Sunday. My next update will be on the happenings of Parliament, which is reconvening on Monday for the next three weeks.

RURAL CRIME AWARENESS

Protect machinery from theft by leaving valuables locked in a shed or storage facility and by marking equipment with your drivers licence and province of issue (an engraver can be borrowed free of charge from most local police detachments).

Protect livestock by checking herds regularly and keeping accurate records of livestock born, sold or purchased.

“Grain Fette” or “Grain Guard” is a unique approach to identifying your crops. Small bits of paper, each one imprinted with your special code number, are mixed with grain as grain is being augered into the storage shed. This is approved by the Canadian Grain Commission. The paper used is also digestible in animal feed.

Rural Crime Watch Members are concerned citizens who are watchful for unusual activity in their community. They record information on suspicious people and vehicles and pass it along to local police. Join together with your neighbours to install a crime watch program in your area. Do not approach suspicious individuals on your own.

Utilize the Report-A-Poacher Program. Their toll free number is 1-800-642-3800.

CHILDREN ON-LINE

SOME TIPS FOR CHILDREN ON THE NET

1. Do not use login names or nicknames that will reveal age or gender.
2. Never give out personal identification including friends, addresses, school activities, passwords or real names
3. Everyone is a stranger. Identities can be hijacked or passwords compromised so even your "best friend" online might not be who they say they are.
4. Everyone lies. While this might not be true, it is easier to assume that it is true and to act accordingly.
5. The Internet is NOT secure. It is a shared resource. Email is about as secure as a postcard; Chat is about as private as having a phone call with your parents listening in on the other extension.
6. The people who would harm you have often had lots of time, experience and knowledge on how to trap you. You are an amateur compared to them. They will do everything they can to trick you into trusting them.
7. Do not agree to meet anyone offline.
8. If you are even a little bit suspicious, talk to your parents.

SELF DEFENCE

1. Computers used by children should be placed in a supervised area with the screen facing outwards.
2. All computers that can connect to the Internet should have Anti-Virus Software installed and updated at least weekly, if not daily.
3. All computers that have a dedicated connection (cable/dsl) should also have a firewall device or firewall software installed to block intruders.
4. Never open attachments unless they have been scanned. If you do not know the sender, attachments should be deleted.
5. Use passwords to secure your computer even if you are the only user. If the computer equipment is stolen, all your information could be compromised. Change your password regularly.
6. Disconnect your network connection or turn off your computer when you are not using it.
7. Your computer needs regular maintenance, upkeep and periodic upgrades to keep it functioning well.
8. Always back up your data. Keep the data stored securely and separately from the computer.

BULLYING

Tips for Dealing With Bullying

- 1) Take complaints of bullying seriously. Do not dismiss your child or expect your child to work through the situation alone.
- 2) Praise your child for reporting bullying situations to you and assure your child you will take action.
- 3) Talk to your child's teacher, counselor, or other caregiver about reports of bullying.
- 4) Work together to address the bullying situation. Don't confront the parents of the bully directly.
- 5) Ask your child specific questions about how your child is treated by peers, who he or she eats lunch with, and how other children are treated.
- 6) Teach your child to be assertive. Your child should be able to express feelings and needs clearly, without shouting or other aggressive behavior.

- 7) Provide opportunities for your child to make friends. Identify some of your child's interests and encourage your child to pursue them through sports, clubs, or other group activities.

ABDUCTION IS NOT A GAME

DON'T TALK TO STRANGERS!

Tips about Strangers

A stranger is anyone you don't know. There is no way to tell by the way a person looks if they are dangerous or not. A dangerous person does not always look mean or scary, so judging by the way people look is a mistake. It's not so easy to tell who is okay and who is not. Just because someone looks nasty doesn't mean that they would hurt you and just because someone looks nice, doesn't mean that they are a nice person.

There is only one person that is with you all the time and can be responsible for keeping you safe at all times. THAT PERSON IS YOU! Safety rules need to apply ALL THE TIME, not just when someone who looks bad or scary is around. One of the most common ways that kids get hurt by strangers is when being friendly and helpful to adults who pretend to need help. When you are without your parents or other adult you know, it is your job to protect yourself. It is not your job to offer help to any adults, even if they ask! A grown-up who needs help should get help from another adult, not a child. So remember, looking out for yourself is your biggest job when you are not with your parents or another adult, so you have permission to ignore or refuse adult requests for help

Stranger Tips:

- Walk and play with others and use the buddy system. If you walk somewhere, walk with other children.
- Adults do not usually ask children for directions or help, they should be asking other adults. If someone in a car should stop to ask for directions, you should not go near the car.
- Stay an arms reach or more away from strangers. Stand up, back up and run to someone who can help you if you feel afraid.
- If someone is following you on foot or in a car, go to a place where there are other people--to a neighbor's home or into a store, a police station or even a library for instance--and ask for help.
- No one should ask you to look for lost items such as a "lost puppy" or tell you that either of your parents is in trouble and that he or she will take you to mom or dad. If someone tells you this, run the other way immediately and find help with an adult you know or run into a safe place you know.
- Never go near a car with someone in it or get into a car without your parents' permission. You should learn whose cars you are allowed to ride in.

REAL ESTATE AND MORTGAGE FRAUD

Tips to Protect your Real Estate Investment Dollars

- * Consult public real estate websites to review property listings in the community where the property is located. Compare features, size & locations to establish if the asking price seems reasonable.
- * Get independent representation for your purchase. If the seller objects, consider it a red flag.
- * Check to make sure your representative is a licensed real estate agent. Contact your local Real Estate Board or the Real Estate Council of Alberta. Using a licensed real estate agent does not cost anything from a purchaser's standpoint. Usually all commissions are paid by the seller.
- * Beware of a real estate agent or mortgage broker who has a financial interest in the transaction.
- * Ask your independent representative to provide you with a comparative market analysis of the property.
- * Ask for a copy of the land title or go to a Registry office and ask them to do a historical title search.
- * Insist on a home inspection to guard against buying a home that has been cosmetically renovated.
- * When you make a deposit, ensure your money is protected by being held "in trust".

RAILWAY SAFETY ACT REVIEW

Submitted by Jim Eglinski, MP – Yellowhead

Jim Eglinski, Member of Parliament for Yellowhead, is informing residents of a review of the Railway Safety Act, which is being conducted one year ahead of schedule.

To carry out this review, the Minister of Transport has appointed a panel, which is tasked with engaging a broad range of stakeholders from across the country.

“Considering some of the ongoing safety issues in our riding of Yellowhead in which CN trains block crossings for unacceptable amounts of time, I am encouraging all residents and stakeholders with a vested interest in rail safety to provide their views to the Review Panel,” stated MP Eglinski.

The review will focus on examining existing provisions and programs under the Act, including their suitability, adequacy, and effectiveness. This is necessary to ensure the Act’s core objective of ensuring rail safety for Canadians is met.

A final report from the panel is expected by May 2018.

“Canada is a large country that relies on investment, openness and trade for its economic success. We need to ensure that people and products can move quickly and safely, while respecting the safety of local residents,” concluded MP Eglinski.

CANNABIS ACT – C-45

Submitted by Jim Eglinski, MP – Yellowhead

The Canadian Centre for Substance Abuse says that for youth ages 15-24, marijuana use has dropped from 33% to 24%. Programs that encourage kids to stop using marijuana have been working. Yet on April 13th the Liberal Government introduced C-45, ‘Cannabis Act’. This legislation would allow adults age 18 and over to possess up to 30 grams of dried cannabis or its equivalent in public and to buy cannabis from a provincially regulated retailer. However, this legislation fails to address some very important details.

So far there has been little indication how cannabis will be taxed and how that tax revenue will be shared. Will the GST be applied to pot? Will provincial sales tax also be applied? Will there be some new sort of cannabis tax introduced that shares revenue with the provinces, or will the federal government impose its own tax and tell the provinces to do the same?

The federal government has earmarked $9.6 million over five years for a “comprehensive public education and awareness campaign,” but what will that look like and is that enough money? The Canadian Automobile Association says that level of funding “is clearly inadequate, given the misconceptions about marijuana’s effect on driving.”

Furthermore, it appears the Liberal Government wants to create a pot registry, but they are not telling us how much this is going to cost. Health Canada said the system would be designed to collect information about pot products from licensed producers, distributors and retailers. The department added it would allow businesses and regulators to trace all products.

Between this month’s introduction of the bill to legalize cannabis, and the 15 months it will take to pass it into law, there are a lot of questions that the Prime Minister is going to have to address.

Lawn & Garden

The Businesses in the following Guide can be your One Stop Solution to all your Lawn & Garden Needs!

Lawn & Garden

BREAK GROUND WITH THE RIGHT TOOLS

The right tools for the job can be the difference between an interminable landscaping project and one that goes smoothly and efficiently. Aspiring landscapers probably have a few shovels and rakes hanging in their garages and sheds for basic landscaping work. But while such tools are effective for certain projects, when it comes to churning soil for garden beds or digging holes for outdoor structures, additional tools come in handy. It may be well worth a trip to a nearby home center to purchase or rent one of these tools ideal for breaking ground.

Rototiller

A rototiller, sometimes called just a "tiller," is a powered garden tool designed to loosen soil prior to planting. A rototiller also can help aerate soil during the growing season. Because they reduce the need for manual spade digging or hoeing, tillers can be useful landscaping tools, particularly for homeowners who want to work efficiently.

Rototillers will break through tough soil and any plant roots. They come in a variety of sizes, and it's best to match the tool to the size of the job. Many homeowners can get by with smaller, less powerful models, especially if the tiller is only necessary at the beginning of planting season. Professional landscapers or those with large swatches of property may benefit from larger models.

Auger

Augers, both mechanical and manual, are essentially large drill bits that help move materials from one location to another. Augers are typically used to cut holes in landscapes, and they are good for post-hole drilling, which is part of the process of installing deck footings, fencing posts or other structures. Augers come in a variety of sizes, and homeowners can choose how much power they prefer. Augers can be heavy and cumbersome, and many do-it-yourselfers will find that one-person augers are more than adequate for their projects.

Augers dig deep holes, so it is always smart to have the property surveyed prior to use. This way pipes, gas lines, buried electrical lines, and any other obstructions are clearly identified prior to drilling.

Cultivator

Cultivators are similar to tillers in that they loosen soil. Cultivators are effective during the growth period of plants, when they can be used to aerate the soil and remove weeds. Cultivators come in hand-held versions and push models, and some are even motorized. Cultivators get close to plants to remove weeds without disturbing the plant. They also are used to stir in compost or fertilizer.

While many people think cultivators and tillers are the same, that is not the case. The former is less powerful and will mix the soil or stir up the top layer, while the latter can break up moderately hard ground and loosen firm soil.

When using any tools around the garden, wear the proper protection. This includes devices to protect hearing when power tools are in use as well as gloves and safety goggles. Tillers, augers and cultivators have the potential to toss soil and rocks into the air, so make sure others keep their distance while work is in progress.

TIPS TO STOP SCHOOLYARD BULLYING

- Take it seriously. It's easy to say, "Kids will be kids" and assume it will pass. But if your child is coming home upset and is suddenly anxious about school because of the way a kid (or kids) are treating him, you should pay attention.
- Drop your kid off at school or stand on the sidelines during recess. Bullying tends to occur when adult supervision is lacking, so before school or on the playground at recess.
- Talk to other parents. Young kids are talkers. If you're friendly with a parent in your kid's class, ask them if their child has mentioned anything about kids being picked on at school.
- Tell the teacher. It's really important to let your child's teacher know what your kid is telling you -- especially if someone is getting hit.
- Empower your children. Let your kids know that it's not their fault that they are being bullied. Teach your kids to focus on their own behavior.
