PLANETARIUM RETURNS TO TIPPLE PARK MUSEUM

Submitted by Melissa Killion, Museum Manager | Tipple Park Museum

Have you ever wondered what is up in the sky above us? Or are you just interested in Astrology? either way we have a great educational experience coming to Tipple Park Museum. We are thrilled to announce our Family Night at the Planetarium Thursday, November 9. Admission is $3.00/person for those over 5 years of age. Listen to stories and learn about constellations with hands on crafts and storytelling. This event is fun for the whole family.

Staff are going to take people on an outer space journey describing the stars and planets, seeing satellite images, three dimensional shapes and so much more! There are going to be various craft tables set up in the Museum hosting various age group activities for everyone to take part in.

Educational experiences are always the best especially when you can share them with family and the community! Not only are you going to be learning about outer space, but you're also going to meet new people, share your experience with others and get away from the cold!

Its not everyday a Planetarium comes to Evansburg, so we might as well make the most of it. I have to admit I'm pretty excited myself. Hope to see everyone there.

And as our good buddy Spock would say "Live long and prosper".

MP EGLINSKI VOICES CONCERN OVER DRUG-IMPAIRED DRIVING

Submitted by Jim Eglinski, MP – Yellowhead

OTTAWA: On October 24th, Jim Eglinski, Member of Parliament for Yellowhead, took part in debate on Bill C-46, An Act to amend the Criminal Code (offences relating to conveyances) and to make consequential amendments to other Acts.

In recognition that marijuana is slated to be legalized by July 2018, Bill C-46 amends the provisions of the Criminal Code that deal with offences and procedures relating to alcohol and drug-impaired driving. Currently at Report Stage, the proposed legislation introduces new and higher mandatory fines and maximum penalties for impaired driving crimes, and it authorizes mandatory roadside screening.

"Science gives us the ability to calculate the effects of alcohol," stated MP Eglinski in the House of Commons. "I could sit down with any person in this room, and if he or she told me what he or she had to drink I could probably break it down and tell him or her what the [breathalyser] reading would be."

While law enforcement can detect alcohol in impaired driving, detecting drugs can be much more difficult. Drawing on his 35 years of experience as an RCMP officer, MP Eglinski expressed concern for the lack of scientifically proven instruments that allow officers to detect marijuana in blood levels.

"We are looking at that and testing it right now. . . I do not believe we have enough scientific evidence out there. However, [the Liberals] will be going ahead with this law to make marijuana legal," he said.

MP Eglinski also criticized the lack of substantial penalties to deter impaired drivers and keep them off the road. Bill C-46 does not increase penalties for the most serious impaired driving offence, namely, impaired driving causing death. The Conservative Party previously put forward an amendment when the bill was at Justice Committee to provide for a five-year mandatory sentence for impaired driving causing death. Individuals convicted of this very serious offence, in some cases, are currently walking free with nothing more than a $1,500 fine. The Liberals voted against the amendment.

"The legislation in Bill C-46 has some good intentions, and I do not disagree with it, but it needs to be reviewed with more scrutiny. It needs to be looked at. We need to get rid of a lot of the ambiguous parts that are written in there because it is going to tie up police officers on the road and make it very difficult for us to enforce impaired driving, especially with respect to drugs," concluded MP Eglinski.

To read the speech and find more information on Bill C-46, visit the House Publications page at: www.ourcommons.ca/en

GYPSPD NOVEMBER SCHOOL NEWS

Submitted by Nikki Gilks, Manager, Communications
Services | Grande Yellow-
head Public School Division

LOBSTICK ZONE

Evansview School, Evansburg

At Evansview school in the Grade 5/6 room, we have been learning a lot about the use of technology. From using Google in our school to learning what it means to be a digital citizen, we have come a long way. As a group we understand that being a good citizen in person is just as important as being a good citizen online. There are plenty of dangers online, but as a class, we have learned to use our devices appropriately and be safe on the internet. We are a 'Bring Your Own Device' class, and have been practicing responsible usage in class. Students who have devices are allowed to bring them but if they don't have them, they are allowed to use the computers in the school or other resources. Everyone understands what it means to be a responsible digital citizen and demonstrates this daily. It has been a whirlwind of activity in our little school community. We embraced change with our Terry Fox Run, travelling around our playground collecting stamps after each lap, and then tabulating how many kilometers we collectively ran. Terry's spirit and determination was present in all 335 kilometers! We have also had the pleasure of hosting Ian Porteous and his Cultural Wheel presentation, where students learned of their role as compassionate and considerate members of school and global citizens, focusing on integration and acceptance. The day culminated with all students participating in a social dance. Thank you to our parent council for fully supporting this wonderful experience!

We also hosted oral storyteller Kathy Jessup in collaboration with the Evansburg Public Library. Students were eager listeners as she shared her many interactive tales! While we did have to postpone our tour of the brand new fire hall, we were fortunate to have the firefighters visit us at the school, complete with gear, to discuss fire safety during Fire Safety Week. Our kindergarten class also had the pleasure of Fish and Wildlife staff join their learning adventures as part of Evansview's forestry kindergarten group. In November we will be holding our Remembrance Day ceremony on Thursday, November 9th at 11am.

Grand Trunk High School (GTHS), Evansburg

It's amazing how quickly we have arrived at November. The first days of school don't feel that far off, yet here we are just about half way through our first semester. GTHS students and staff are busy with course work, student's union, volleyball games and tournaments, and various other projects and groups. Grand Trunk is participating in the annual 'Take Our Kids to Work Day' in which all Grade 9 students are encouraged to attend work with a parent or guardian to experience the world of work. GTHS strives to prepare all of our students for the world after school by supporting initiatives such as this event as well as by teaching practical mathematics, Career and Life Management, and how students can be active citizens through the instruction of our various high school social studies programs. To celebrate Halloween, the students' union will be offering different activities for all students during the last block of the day on the 31st including movies and various games in different locations around the school. In recognition of Remembrance Day, Grand Trunk High School will be hosting a short program in the theatre hall on Thursday, November 9th at 1pm. Members of the local Legion branch will be in attendance to help honor members of our armed forces.

Niton Central School, Niton Junction

Our Grade 2/3 class is currently learning about Indigenous peoples in social studies. Their high interest in learning about the Indigenous culture has allowed their class to extend their learning into art projects. The art project for October was dream catchers. The students used paper plates, string, beads, feathers and markers to create their work of art. This was a highly engaging, exciting project. Next, they will be looking at designing drums and making bannock.

Recently, the Grade 6 class had to become crime scene investigators, in order to solve the mystery of who took the stuffing out of Mr. Bearamy! Our science lab was transformed into a crime scene, equipped with a variety of stations where the students had to examine fingerprints, sort through clues, and inspect the evidence. We are happy to report that the Grade 6 detectives worked hard to solve this mystery, the criminal mastermind that de-stuffed Mr. Bearamy was caught, and this case was put to rest.

In our latest Response to Intervention (RTI) cycle, junior high teachers brought forth some big changes. During our six week RTI block, they created a school newspaper, extension project for those students not needing RTI assistance. With the help and guidance of their teacher, the junior high students started a bi-weekly newsletter. This project not only helped students improve their writing, it allowed them to focus on current events in our school as well as larger scale events happening in the world. Every couple of weeks, the students turned in their topic ideas to their teacher. From there, they would do the necessary research to write their article. Then they would write the article and together with their peers work on their editing skills. Once approved, they typed up their article and worked together on formatting it nicely into a newspaper. It was a great addition to our school news and allowed our junior high to have a voice.

Wildwood School, Wildwood

The Leadership Club at Wildwood School has become a uniquely exciting platform to prepare students for the world of work. Leadership Club started up very early in September. Wildwood teachers Colleen Callan and Shannon Kolotyluk encouraged as many students as possible to join and they were ecstatic when more than twenty of the Grade 5 to 9's came looking for a chance to make a difference at their school. Watching the students in action is incredible! Managerial directing, task completion and reporting to supervisors is all part of what you see.

Their biggest school-wide activity project to date was planning Halloween. They made an escape room where students had to solve problems to obtain a clue. Each clue earned them a skeleton bone. Complete skeleton equalled freedom from the escape room! A less terrifying room for younger students was created by another team. There were games and face painting. The day finished with a glow sick dance party in the gym.

Leadership Club has appeal to anyone who wants a chance to show their natural talents. These junior CEO's are presenting high level, high employability skills. The kids expressed that they love to be creative, be the boss, plan, decorate, whatever it takes to bring their ideas to life. In smaller work teams, depending on the project, they come up with great ideas, make decisions, set goals, stay focused, get organized and meet deadlines.

They are also being pushed to refine workplace skills people avoid like speaking in public, asking for help or volunteering. Recent field trips like the one to Camp Warwa increased bonding, teamwork and cooperation.

Commitment and responsibility and the overall maturity of the students is increasing school wide. Teacher Jonie Gerspacher, ran a hugely successful book fair in October. She relied on the support of two key students to help run it. Volleyball coach Twila Berube threw together a blitz magazines fundraiser to reduce team travel fees and tournament costs and in no time, student total sales numbered in the thousands. Grade 5-6 hot dog and cookie sales on Thursdays and Fridays run like a well-oiled machine thanks to everybody doing their job with confident efficiency. Everyone is expecting to have a really fun and memorable school year!

INDICATORS IT'S TIME TO CHANGE AIR FILTERS

Vehicle maintenance can protect drivers' investments and help their automobiles run efficiently. One area drivers should pay particular attention to is their vehicles' air filters. When operating at optimal capacity, an air filter improves fuel efficiency while ensuring vehicles accelerate smoothly without taxing the engine. But when air filters are clogged, fuel efficiency is reduced and emissions are increased, a 1-2 punch that costs motorists money and hurts the planet at the same time. Drivers can check their owners' manuals to determine the recommended intervals to replace air filters, but the following are a handful of indicators that suggest it's time to change them.

- Gas mileage: Unless you just purchased your vehicle, you likely know how many miles you can drive on a full tank of gas. If that gas mileage is suddenly slipping and you find yourself visiting the filling station more frequently, then it might be time to replace your air filter.

- Engine light: Drivers may be alerted to engine issues when the "Check engine" lights up on the vehicle's dashboard. This light may come on to indicate a problem with the air filter, as clogged air filters reduce air flow to the engine, resulting in an imbalanced air-fuel mixture that adversely affects the engine.

- Starting and idling problems: Vehicles sometimes don't start up as smoothly as they once did, and drivers may also notice vehicles are not idling smoothly. These symptoms may indicate misfiring spark plugs that are being polluted (and made less effective) by a dirty air filter that is reducing the flow of air to the engine.

- Acceleration difficulties: Automobiles that are operating at peak capacity accelerate quickly. But dirty, worn out air filters adversely affect acceleration. Drivers who notice that their cars are struggling to accelerate when stoplights turn green or on highways may need to replace their vehicles' air filters.

- Dirty air filter: Perhaps the biggest indicator that an air filter needs to be replaced is the filter itself. If you cannot find the air filter on your own, consult your vehicle owner's manual to determine where it is. Once you find the air filter, examine it in broad daylight. Clean air filters are white, so if the filter has darkened, it may need to be replaced.

STAY SAFE WHEN DRIVING IN WET WEATHER

Drivers must modify their driving habits when weather compromises their visibility and makes road conditions unsafe. Rain can fall any time of year, but tends to be most problematic in spring.

According to the Federal Highway Administration, wet roadways, and rain in particular, are the main cause of weather-related vehicle crashes. The National Highway Traffic Safety Administration notes that, between 2004 and 2013, rain caused 573,784 crashes.

To drive safely in the rain and avoid accidents, drivers should follow certain precautions.

- Maintain windshield wipers. Inspect and, if necessary change windshield wipers regularly to ensure they are working optimally. Always test wipers before driving in rainy weather.

- Turn on lights with wipers. Reduced visibility is a major contributor to wet-weather accidents. Drivers' views may be hampered by falling precipitation and glare from wet roadways. Cloudy conditions and fog also compromise visibility. When using windshield wipers, turn on your headlights as well. This makes your vehicle more visible to other motorists and improves your own ability to see the road and pedestrians.

- Recognize changing road conditions. Roadways accumulate oil and engine fluids that can float in rainwater, creating slippery road surfaces. This is usually a problem during the first few hours of a rainstorm or in areas that receive little precipitation and then are subjected to downpours. These fluids make rain-soaked roads even more slippery. Slow down, leave more room between vehicles and try driving in the tracks left by vehicles ahead.

- Reduce speed. The automotive group AAA says hydroplaning, when the tires rise up on a film of water, can occur with as little as 1/12 inch of water on the road. The group goes on to say that tires have to displace a gallon of water per second to keep the rubber meeting the road. Drivers should reduce their speeds to correspond to the amount of water on the roadway. New tires can still lose some contact with the roadway, even at a speed as low as 35 mph. Therefore, reducing speed and avoiding hard braking and turning sharply can help keep the rubber of the tire meeting the road.

- Rely on the defogger. Use the car's windshield defroster/defogger to improve visibility. Turn it on early and keep it on until the rain has stopped and visibility has improved.

- Recover from a skid. Skids can be frightening, but when skidding, resist any temptation to slam on the breaks. Instead, continue to look and drive in the direction you want to go and slowly ease up on the accelerator.

- Skip the cruise control. It's important to maintain control over the vehicle in rainy conditions, so avoid using cruise control.

- Maintain tires. Proper inflation and tire tread levels can improve traction. AAA recommends checking tread depth by inserting a quarter upside down into the tire groove. If you can see above Washington's head, start shopping for new tires. Check tire pressure on all tires at least once a month. Get an accurate reading when tires are cold and adjust air pressure accordingly.

- Avoid other distractions. Distracted driving can be hazardous during good road conditions and even more dangerous when visibility and other factors are compromised. Switch phones and other devices off so you can fully focus on the road and other drivers.

Rainy weather can contribute to poor driving conditions. Drivers should make changes to speed and other factors to make wet weather driving as safe as possible.

SUDOKU OF THE WEEK

Fun By The Numbers

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
