JOKE OF THE WEEK

A blonde driving a car became lost in a snowstorm. She didn't panic however, because she remembered what her dad had once told her. "If you ever get stuck in a snowstorm, just wait for a snow plow to come by and follow it." Sure enough, pretty soon a snow plow came by, and she started to follow it. She followed the plow for about forty-five minutes. Finally the driver of the truck got out and asked her what she was doing. And she explained that her dad had told her if she ever got stuck in a snow storm, to follow a plow. The driver nodded and said, "Well, I'm done with the Wal-Mart parking lot, do you want to follow me over to Best Buy now?"

RCMP Member Charged Following Investigation

During the arrest, the officer is alleged to have used both physical force and a pair of handcuffs to strike the man. Following the arrest, it was determined that the man had sustained serious injury, including an orbital floor facial fracture.

ASIRT conducted a thorough and independent investigation into the circumstances surrounding the incident. Upon review, it was determined that the evidence raised reasonable grounds to believe that an offence or offences had been committed. As required under the Police Act, the complete investigative file was forwarded to the Alberta Crown Prosecution Service (ACPS) for a determination on whether it met the standard for prosecution. Having been advised by ACPS that the case meets the Crown standard for prosecution, and having carefully reviewed the investigation, and there being reasonable grounds to believe that offences were committed, ASIRT executive director, Ms. Susan D. Hughson, Q.C., made the determination that the involved officer should be charged accordingly.

Today, Cpl. Peter MacMillan, a member of the RCMP, has been charged with one count of assault causing bodily harm and one count of assault with a weapon, to wit: handcuffs.

Cpl. MacMillan was served with an appearance notice, and is required to appear in Leduc Provincial Court on Thursday, Feb. 28, 2019.

As these matters are now before the courts, ASIRT will not provide any further information in relation to these incidents.

EARLY COAL PHASE OUT: GOOD OR BAD POLICY?

Submitted by MLA Mark Smith | Drayton Valley – Devon Constituency Office

In a previous article I addressed the need for governments to make good policy decisions that:

- have an aspirational goal,
- consider and reflect public thought,

- at the very least do no harm,
- and establish an economic environment that will create jobs.

Here is one example of how a bad policy decision has hurt Albertans.

During its term in government the NDP with little to no consultation fast tracked the phase out of coal.

Now there is no doubt that this new plan to replace coal generated electricity with renewable energy and natural gas was an aspirational goal but did it reflect public thought, do no harm and create jobs?

Within the electrical industry the phase out of coal resulted in electrical chaos, lost jobs, stranded assets and the tax payer on the hook for at least $1.7 Billion dollars in payouts to the electrical companies.

The County of Parkland believes that this decision has resulted in a loss of 25-30% of their tax base, partially because of the loss of jobs in both the coal industry and the fact that running a natural gas electrical power plant needs significantly fewer workers.

Now that renewable energy is becoming an important part of the Alberta electricity story we must also come to terms with the fact that when the sun doesn't shine and the wind doesn't blow electricity is not being produced and an alternate source of energy must be found.

Alberta is tied into a continental electricity distribution grid that connects us to the rest of Canada and the United States.

So where do we receive the electricity we need when the sun doesn't shine or the wind doesn't blow?

Some of it comes from the Alberta-Montana tie in line.

How does Montana produce much of their electrical energy? Coal

So we find ourselves in the position where rather than producing electricity in Alberta, creating jobs and wealth and a larger tax base this government would prefer to buy from Montana, create jobs in Montana.

The result is what we call bad policy that hurts Albertans and can't even make the claim that we are sacrificing jobs for the environment because the carbon is still being produced by carbon leakage into Montana from plants that are less efficient than in Alberta.

This is just one clear example of how bad policy hurts everyday Albertans and why we need to be careful in crafting policy and in choosing governments as we move in to 2019.

UPDATE #1:

Jan. 16, 2019

Devon, Alta. – Devon RCMP continue to investigate the disappearance of Kathleen Rose Ferraz-Duchesneau (25) of Devon.

On Jan. 6, 2019 at 11:10 p.m. Kathleen’s vehicle was located, abandoned, south of the Devon Bridge. Kathleen has not been located since the discovery of her vehicle.

To date, the RCMP have been following up on all tips provided, unfortunately no viable information or sighting has resulted. Local businesses have been solicited for any video surveillance, and local homeowners have been requested to check their property for any information that may lead to her whereabouts. Several RCMP units and detachments are involved and working collaboratively to explore all avenues of investigation. The RCMP continue to liaise with various community search groups.

There has not been sufficient evidence at this point for the RCMP to have made any determination that this is a criminal incident.

“I know that everyone wants to help find Kathleen, so I’m asking the public to assist by providing the RCMP information and allowing us to do our investigational job” says Sergeant Jolene Nason of the Devon RCMP. “The public is welcome to conduct searches in open, public areas but should not be going on private property where they may be alarming homeowners and putting themselves in unsafe situations.”

If you have seen Kathleen or have any information on her whereabouts, please contact Devon RCMP at 780-987-3414. If you wish to remain anonymous, you can contact Crime

Stoppers at 1-800-222-8477 (TIPS), online at www.P3Tips.com or by using the “P3 Tips” app available through the Apple App or Google Play Store.

BACKGROUND:

On Jan. 6, 2019, at approximately 11:10 p.m., Kathleen’s vehicle was observed parked and running in the medium, between the north and south bound lanes, just south of the Devon Bridge.

- Caucasian
- 5’ 5” tall
- 240 lbs
- Green eyes
- Blondish/brown hair
- Possibly wearing glasses
- Possibly wearing purple jacket with white fur around the hood

• Blue jeans

STEP 2019 READY TO HELP EMPLOYERS AND STUDENTS

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Applications for the Summer Temporary Employment Program (STEP) are now being accepted online.

The Alberta government re-introduced STEP to create work opportunities for high school and post-secondary students between May and August, by providing a $7-per-hour wage subsidy to employers.

"Alberta students deserve good jobs and the best possible training, and Alberta businesses deserve the labour resources they need to thrive. Since we brought STEP back in 2016, the program has provided nearly 9,000 jobs for students across the province. Employers who hire students improve job prospects for young Albertans and can hire additional resources to sustain and build their business." - Christina Gray, Minister of Labour

Last year, STEP helped almost 1,400 employers hire 3,050 students for summer positions. The program is available to small businesses, non-profit organizations, public libraries, school boards, publicly funded post-secondary institutions, municipalities, First Nations and Metis settlements.

"Well educated young people with useful skills are essential to our future and we need to provide meaningful employment opportunities to help prepare them. The STEP program makes it possible to take on students to work in small businesses and public institutions that could not afford to hire them otherwise. Students who have worked for us have all gone on to build successful careers." - Peter Wallis, president and principal scientist, Hyperion Research Ltd.

New this year, applications are being accepted online only to streamline the process, through the Labour Workforce Grants Portal. Employers interested in hiring a student for 2019 are encouraged to apply as soon as possible.

Applications must be submitted before the Feb. 8, 2019 deadline. Additional information and application forms are available online at alberta.ca/step

Quick facts

- STEP is a four- to 16-week wage subsidy program that provides funding to employers to hire high school or post-secondary students for summer jobs from May to August.

- Employers are offered a $7-per-hour subsidy for a maximum of 37.5 hours per week.

- STEP was reintroduced in 2016, receiving $10 million annually.

- The program will accept applications through the online portal alberta.ca/step from Jan. 3 to Feb. 8, 2019.

"The 65th Avenue Interchange is a significant investment that will help our region in reaching its full economic potential, and I am very proud to be a part of a community, a region and a province that have been working collectively toward this common goal.

"The Interchange will provide additional access points to the airport and the surrounding lands, enabling the development of commercial infrastructure and further diversifying economic development in and around EIA and our region. It will also help expand logistical and transportation networks for new and existing businesses.

"Locally, the interchange is projected to pave the way in generating $600 million in investment growth for our region, including 4,000 new construction jobs and 4,300 permanent, multi-sector jobs.

"On a larger scale, this interchange is just one critical piece of a much larger national trade corridor that includes the Nisku Spine Road. We will continue to work with our partners, Leduc County, to ensure we get this trade corridor completed.

"Together, we are not only creating a physical connection for our transportation corridors, but also a meaningful connection to the global marketplace. This is a very exciting time for our region, and we should all be very proud."

Premier Notley and Minister Larivee meet with Great Kids Award recipients during a National Child Day event at the Alberta legislature.

NATIONAL CHILD DAY: MINISTER LARIVEE

Submitted by Government of Alberta

November 20, 2018
Minister of Children's Services Danielle Larivee issued the following statement recognizing National Child Day:

"Our government believes that all young people should be heard everywhere and every day on issues and decisions that matter to them.

"Today, we celebrate National Child Day and children's right to identity, a right that includes respect for diversity and inclusion. Every child in our province deserves a happy and healthy life, no matter where they are born or where they live – no matter their personal, social or cultural identity.

"Our government is working to help kids reach their full potential by ensuring they have a voice and are supported. Every parent knows that laying the foundation for childhood success doesn't begin in Grade 1. That's why we're improving access to quality, affordable $25-a-day child care. It's why the Alberta Child Benefit supports access to dance, soccer or music lessons. Because helping parents means helping children have brighter futures.

"A key step in A Stronger, Safer Tomorrow, our plan to protect children and improve supports for Indigenous families, is to establish a Youth Advisory Committee for children involved in the child intervention system, so we can hear from young people directly. Our government is also ensuring school environments respect diversity and foster a sense of belonging, including the ability for students to form gay-straight alliances.

"Today, I was honoured to meet with Great Kids Award winners, who showed once again just how bright the future of our province will be. Alberta is filled with great kids like these whose voices and ideas are building stronger communities throughout our province. This year's nomination deadline for the Great Kids Awards has been extended to Jan. 31. I encourage all Albertans to nominate great kids they know for this award and to celebrate all kids."

ONE-STOP SHOP FOR ALBERTA UTILITY CONSUMERS

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Albertans who have concerns about their water utility provider can access free mediation services through the Utilities Consumer Advocate beginning Dec. 1.

The Office of the Utilities Consumer Advocate (UCA) has a proven record of educating natural gas and electricity consumers and mediating utility-related disputes. In June, the government passed an Act to Empower Utility Consumers, which expanded the mandate of the UCA to include water utilities.

Effective Dec. 1, the UCA will be a one-stop shop for people looking for help on water, natural gas and electricity issues. The UCA previously mediated disputes between consumers and electricity and natural gas providers, but can now help water utility customers with questions about billing, customer service, disconnection and metering issues.

"Albertans hit with unexpectedly high water bills told us they had nowhere to go. The UCA has a long history of mediating disputes between consumers and electricity and natural gas providers, and the UCA will now be able to help Albertans with their water bills. Finding new ways to protect consumers is another example of how we're making life better for Albertans." - Brian Malkinson, Minister of Service Alberta

UCA panel up and running

In addition to the expanded mandate, a new panel that will advise on electricity and natural gas matters concerning residential, agricultural and small business consumers is now in operation.

The Power and Natural Gas Consumers Panel was created to provide advice and guidance regarding current and emerging energy consumer issues to the Minister of Service Alberta and the UCA.

The panel has nine members, including four members who represent the following stakeholder groups:

- Alberta Chambers of Commerce
- Alberta Federation of Agriculture

• Alberta Urban Municipalities Association

• Rural Municipalities of Alberta

The remaining five public members were selected through an open competition, based on a diverse range of skill sets. They bring to the panel backgrounds in policy/law, utility infrastructure, education, social work and home ownership.

The panel will meet two to four times a year and is projected to have an annual budget of $32,000. This is an 88 per cent decrease from the previous governance body, the UCA Advisory Board, which averaged an annual budget of $264,000 during the three years prior to its dissolution in 2016.

ANOTHER RECORD YEAR FOR ALBERTA CAMPGROUNDS

It was the best year of the decade for Alberta Parks' online reservation system.

Submitted by Government of Alberta

With nearly 171,000 reservations, the provincial reservation system exceeded all nine previous annual totals.

Introduced in 2009, Reserve.AlbertaParks.ca (RAP) helps bolster tourism and helps Albertans connect with nature and experience the provincial parks system.

From the quiet tranquility of lake-front comfort cabins to large family-style group camping to full-amenity park settings, RAP helps visitors explore a wide range of opportunities, many of which have been bolstered by the government's ongoing investment to improve and upgrade campgrounds.

The province is investing $38 million this year in Alberta's provincial park upgrades, expansions and modernizations throughout the system.

In 2018, the RAP system processed 164,101 regular campsites, 3,251 group sites and 3,638 comfort camping units. The 2018 total exceeded last year's online reservation tally of 163,780.

Although the system is only in place between February and November, Albertans can still winter camp at a number of provincial parks listed at Albertaparks.ca.

Quick facts

• Alberta's RAP system has nearly 600,000 account users.

• There are about 250 provincial campgrounds with more than 14,000 campsites in the Alberta provincial parks system.

• The RAP system allows online booking for 88 provincial campgrounds (the remaining provincial campgrounds are first come, first served), 162 group campsites and 64 comfort camping units.

• The online system is mobile-friendly so people can book campsites on their mobile devices.

• To make an online reservation, set up an account or update your existing account in advance of the reservation days, visit Reserve.AlbertaParks.ca.

• Reserve.AlbertaParks.ca campsite opening dates for 2019 are:

- Feb. 4 - group camping
- Feb. 11 - comfort camping
- Feb. 19 - regular camping
- Feb. 25 - backcountry camping
- Revenues generated from camping fees are invested back into Alberta Parks.

VETERANS IN NEED HAVE A NEW PLACE TO SEEK HELP

Submitted by Government of Alberta

MLA Goehring (second from left) unveils plans for a new veterans service centre with Shawna Laychuck (L), veteran service team manager for Veterans Affairs, Debbie Lowther and Gerry Finlay, command service officer for the Royal Canadian Legion, Alberta-NWT Command.

Edmonton-area veterans will soon have a one-stop shop to find housing, get mental and physical health supports and receive help securing employment.

The provincial government is investing $3 million in a new Veterans Service Centre and transitional housing project in north Edmonton. The project will help link veterans to a range of services, including transitional housing, employment and training services and crisis supports.

“Men and women who have served in the military make incredible sacrifices in the line of duty.

When the time comes to hang up the uniform, transitioning to civilian life can be difficult. This new service centre and transitional housing will be key in helping ensure veterans at risk of homelessness have the supports they need.” - Nicole Goehring, MLA and Government of Alberta Liaison to the Canadian Armed Forces

Veterans Emergency Transition Services (VETS) Canada, a non-profit organization, will manage the operations of the Veterans Service Centre. They will also lead the intake process for veterans in need of housing.

“From our research with thousands of in-crisis veterans across the country, we have learned that those who are struggling are in desperate need of a ‘one-stop shop’, a safe place where they can go and receive immediate support and services from qualified personnel and other veterans, without having to chase a referral to another location. That is what this project is all about.” - Debbie Lowther, chair/co-founder, Veterans Emergency Transition Services Canada

The service centre is located along public transportation routes with access to the downtown core, the operational stress injury clinic and the Edmonton Garrison. It is just steps away from an apartment building, purchased by the Government of Alberta, to provide transitional housing for 15 homeless veterans. The Royal Canadian Legion, Alberta-NWT Command, is contributing up to $75,000 to furnish the suites in the building.

“We are pleased be able to make a financial contribution to this project. As we come closer to Remembrance Day, it is important to remember veterans’ sacrifice and their service, but also to look forward and to provide essential supports and collaboration with our partners to ensure that veterans themselves have the opportunities to live their lives fully and enjoy the freedoms that Canada has asked them to defend.” - Chris Strong, president, The Royal Canadian Legion, Alberta-NWT Command

The service centre is expected to be operational before the end of the year. Veterans are expected to begin moving into the transitional housing in the coming months.
