MELT CHANGES

Submitted by MLA Mark Smith | Drayton Valley – Devon Constituency

Alberta is an exporting province, but today it is harder to hire truckers to get our goods to market. Alberta is expected to have a shortage of 3,600 commercial truck drivers by 2023. Without the freight industry to feed our cities and supply the world with our natural resources and manufactured products, our economy will suffer.

We've been listening closely to our farmers, foresters, roughnecks, and freight truckers. They've told us that cost is the biggest barrier to hiring Albertans to good-paying trucking jobs. The Mandatory Entry Level Training (MELT) required to get a Class 1 commercial license is necessary to keep Albertans safe on the road. However the average cost of $8,900 in Alberta for the 113 hour course is also prohibitive for many.

That's why Alberta's government is making big changes to boost Alberta trucking jobs.

We're funding the Driving Back to Work grant program to make MELT more affordable. The grant will cover 90% of the training costs for 300 unemployed Albertans.

We want to make sure that applicants for the grant are ready, willing, and able to participate. By having applicants still responsible for a portion of the required costs, we will ensure those who receive the funding are committed to this training.

We've also launched the Experience and Equivalency program to reduce the time it takes for Class 3 drivers to upgrade to a Class 1 license. Class 3 drivers with a minimum of two years of experience will have the opportunity to take a 40-hour Class 1 training upgrade instead of the full 113-hour Class 1 MELT. This recognizes the skills many Class 3 drivers have, particularly in our agriculture industry.

Neither of these changes affect the high training and safety standards set out by MELT in order to keep Alberta's roads safe. All applicants will still be required to pass the Class 1 MELT knowledge and road test to obtain their Class 1 commercial license.

By improving access to trucking jobs, Albertans can get back to work. We will remain focused on Alberta's economic recovery.

JOKE of the week

A little girl was sitting next to her grandfather as he read her a bedtime story. From time to time, she would take her eyes off the book and reach up and touch his wrinkled cheek. She touched her own cheek after she touched his. After a little while of thinking she asked, "Grandpa, did God make you?" He looked at her and said, "Yes, sweetheart, God made me a long time ago." She paused for a few seconds and then asked, "Grandpa, did God make me too?" He replied, "Yes, indeed pumpkin, God made you just a little while ago." Feeling their respective faces again, she whispered to him, "God's getting better at it, isn't he?"

UNWRAPPING RED TAPE ON CHRISTMAS

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Eliminating the fee will save Albertans almost $100,000 and make it easier for individuals to get their own Christmas trees and firewood from Alberta's 87 million acres of forested land.

"I hope Albertans take the time to go out with their families to find the perfect Christmas tree this year. Alberta has so much to offer and we're blessed to live in the most free and open place in the world." - Devin Dreesen, Minister of Agriculture and Forestry

Through the Personal Use Forest Products Permit, Albertans will receive a map of where they can go to access their trees. Permits can be obtained online. For a confirmation email that includes a digital version of the permit, Albertans must click "view" after completing all steps. If you have any questions, reach out to one of Alberta's forest area offices.

"The Christmas tree is an important symbol of hope and joy this coming Christmas season. By cutting red tape and adopting a best practice, we're giving a little light to Albertans whose tradition includes retrieving their own trees." - Grant Hunter, Associate Minister of Red Tape Reduction

A Personal Use Forest Products Permit is valid for 30 days. During that 30-day period, the permit holder may harvest up to:

- three Christmas trees
- five cubic metres of firewood
- five cubic metres of roundwood, often used for fence posts and rails
- 20 tree transplants

Five cubic metres represents about three level truckloads.

Background

Getting a permit before harvesting Crown timber is still the law. Permits help preserve our forests for generations to come by keeping track of the number of trees being harvested, outlining rules to be followed and ensuring that public harvesting is done safely. The Personal Use Forest Products Permit is for small-scale personal use only. Any timber harvested with this permit is not for resale.

Harvesting without a permit or selling Crown timber are contraventions under Forests Act Section 10 and Timber Management Regulation Section 68. The penalty ranges from a minimum of $50 to several thousand dollars based on the amount of timber harvested. If the volume of timber is significant, the Crown is authorized by the Forests Act to seize all of the harvested volume and could pursue prosecution.

Quick facts

- There were 8,116 provincial permits sold for Christmas trees in 2018 and 8,353 permits sold in 2019.
- Another approximately 10,000 permits per year are sold for other approved uses such as firewood.

SUDOKU

of the week

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!
