Christmas Angels - we want to ensure that every child receives a gift at Christmas. To give an angel gift, pick up an angel on one of our angel trees located at each of the banks in Mayerthorpe and Sangudo. Each angel has the gender, age and size of the child with a code number. Choose an angel, buy a $25.00 gift for the child. Wrap the gift and instead of a gift tag stick the angel on top and take it back to the bank or to Hendrickson Black.

Gifts and food donations need to be received by December 17th to allow us to sort and pack the hampers for distribution.

We'd like to take this opportunity to thank our community for your support in the past. Personally, I'd like to thank the Food Bank and Tammy Lee for their leadership in this area. Together we can make Christmas special for those less fortunate.

NEW AMENDMENTS TO IMPROVE SAFETY AT GRADE CROSSINGS

Submitted by MP Gerald Soroka

Gerald Soroka, Member of Parliament for Yellowhead, wishes to advise that Transport Canada has announced new amendments to Grade Crossings Regulations.

Amendments to the Regulations will preserve the core safety objectives while providing financial relief to public and private authorities during the COVID-19 pandemic by extending compliance deadlines and ensuring that low-risk grade crossings are not subject to an undue burden. This includes:

- a one-year extension for existing public grade crossings which present a higher risk;
- a three-year extension for all remaining public and all private grade crossings; and

- an exclusion from the construction and maintenance requirements for very low-risk grade crossings (such as field-to-field crossings with minimal train traffic).

WHAT MATTERS TO YOU – THE USUAL SUSPECTS

Submitted by MLA Shane Getson

One of my mentors told me that when it comes to the pipeline industry, remember the ROW (right of way) is only so wide. Chances are, you will pass the same person more than once in your career. So, you may as well try to get along with them, or they might block you in the next time you need to get by. I've heard another similar analogy about climbing a ladder with many on different rungs, and how the view differs between those looking up at the person ahead of them and the person looking down at the person behind them. The perspective and culture leadership brings to and organization or community can make all the difference. Personally, I like better the way Doug put it using the ROW analogy.

I've heard the phrase 'in the good old days' a number of times growing up and throughout my career path. Again, I believe it's a matter of perspective. Are the changes happening in a workplace when we 'progress' good or bad? When it comes to freedom and self-reliance, I'm envious when I reflect back on 'the good old days.' When it comes to creature comforts, such as the ability to connect with others around the world, or transportation, well, we are ahead of the curve to be sure.

At times, I have said to my mentors "It's because you guys got to do EVERYTHING that I can hardly do ANYTHING". I do believe that some of the standards we have today, through learned experience, are a good thing. But we are also quickly diminishing self-reliance. If the safety net were taken away for a moment, I wonder how much we would see actually being taken. If people were accountable and responsible for their own actions, imagine how their behaviors might change. There is something to be said for life's bumps and bruises as we grow.

On those old jobs, Doug was right. I ran across several people like him on projects or in other companies throughout my career. The 'usual suspects' always seemed to show up in leadership roles, at all levels, and when you get enough of them together, that is when real good things happen. Morale goes up, safety and culture improve, quality improves, productivity goes up; the environment is taken care of, and the 'silly bugger' factor goes way down; the tribal knowledge is passed onto another generation. Like attracts like, and success breeds success. I've also observed this from town to town, and sometimes from province to province or state.

In my new role as MLA, the 'usual suspects' often show up in the form of community leaders, volunteers, and other elected officials. The folks that are engaged in their community tend to shape it, and many of us take for granted the amount of time they give up trying to make things better. The best communities allow for new ideas, and new people to join and contribute. These are the areas that flourish and seem to have generational success. What I'd encourage people to do is to join a club, help when you can, get to know your neighbors a little better, and when you can, also try to connect with similar clubs in another community just down the road. Grow your network, grow the local businesses, pitch in a little, and help each other a little more. Basic stuff, but you would be amazed of the results! To the 'usual suspects' in Lac Ste. Anne-Parkland, we truly appreciate all that you do.

Please recruit and mentor others. You will find that when you do this, you will ultimately enjoy yourself more, your families will be happier as well because you won't be taking up so much of their time for your next project. The end results of the project may not be entirely what you envisioned but could be something way better when you have those fresh ideas, bright eyes, and bellies full of enthusiasm to lean on. Why not make tomorrow the 'good old days' for the next person below you on the ladder?

Things change, and in my lifetime I've seen the unfortunate diminishing of the little towns and small roadside services. Change is hard, but I do believe there is a silver lining of all the calamity over the last couple of years – it has made many appreciate those little towns and businesses more. I believe with the modern ability to connect with the entire world, we may be in a renaissance age of the old 'cottage industry' model. The modern technology we have to produce high quality products in a smaller environment, cost effectively, is astounding. The need to have a massive warehouse or logistics network is no longer a burden on companies themselves – there are companies out there that take care of that for the small producer. The ability to effectively market your own products is but a few keystrokes away, and further with large virtual store fronts out there that could have you as a "trusted vendor" getting your high-quality product out to the whole world.

I believe the rural Alberta advantage has been shown over the last year. It's affordability, with a high quality of life. Let's face it, sitting in traffic for two hours a day, with health restrictions in place, and a pile of strangers around, and the only reprieve being back in your house at the end of it all staring at the TV, is a vast comparison to walking to the corner store, going out on the back deck, and looking out at the lake.

Many people are wanting to get out of the big cities, to be part of small communities again, and to be able to work remotely while they raise kids in a more 'good old days' culture. Let's embrace that. Let's flex our advantages! Let's welcome newcomers and pivot our business models to bottle up and distribute what we have to the big stage. Brag up your communities, brag up your festivals, and show off all that we have to offer – it is enviable indeed. As a side note, if you have any good stories or photos of our community, email them over to my constituency office to share.

I don't want to jinx it, but I'm very close to announcing some great things happening in the aerospace sector, all because of a few 'usual suspects' coming together to dream big and get our little corner of the world on the map. Not just one company, or just one group, but several. Our little 'cottage industry' is getting ready to take off, and our little airport is the catalyst, all because of our ability to come together and make things happen. I'm very proud to be the MLA for God's Country, and I'm going to keep promoting the heck out of it, getting the right people together in the room, and putting to use all of the skill sets that I learned over the years from my mentors. I'm hoping to see more bright-eyed and shiny faces around the table. Success is contagious, and we are all due for a win.

Submitted by Cherhill 4 H Multi Club

November has been a busy month for the Cherhill 4-H Multi-Club! At our Novem-the Cherhill Legion in honour of all the soldiers who fought for us.

Projects are in full swing: the Club's first beef weigh-in has already taken place and Sheep Project members will be making soap. Lego Project members took a field trip to a Lego store and the Trapping project went out moose hunting.

Our Mundare Sausage fundraiser items also ar-

Tire recycling went very well, thank you to the village of Greencourt for the tires!

At our next meeting we will be discussing options for our annual Christmas party, which everyone, adults and children, look forward to every year! Our next meeting is December 3!

SUDOKU

of the week

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!
