Police Remind Drivers, Cyclists and Pedestrians to be Alert on the Roads

...over the summer months and everyone needs to be extra vigilant when using our public road ways, crosswalks and walk ways.

For those enjoying a bicycle ride around the city, it is recommended that a helmet is worn to help protect the rider in the event of a fall or collision. Pedestrians should be aware of approaching vehicles when entering a cross walk and ensure that you can see the driver and that the driver sees you. Both cyclists and pedestrians are reminded to look both ways before crossing and be aware of approaching vehicles.

For the motorists, be aware of intersections with crosswalks as well as those near the edge of the road. Drivers need to ensure they are aware of their surroundings in the event someone else is not, to ensure they don't end up in a collision.

Police would also like to remind everyone that if you are distracted by a hand-held electronic device, the chances of getting into a collision greatly increase. It is everyone's responsibility to do their part so we can all safely enjoy the activities we do.

Spruce Grove Enforcement Services and the City of Spruce Grove will be placing signs at key locations to remind everyone about intersection, crosswalk and pedestrian/cyclist safety. This initiative will be supplemented by selective traffic enforcement in a number of locations over the coming weeks.

...projects under two streams: In-Home Support Pilot Projects and Scaling Up for Seniors.

The In-Home Support Pilot Projects stream funds eligible organizations across Canada that have experience delivering one or more specific volunteer-based services to seniors. Organizations need to provide at least one of the eligible practical support services to low-income and otherwise vulnerable seniors in a local area, as well as help seniors navigate, and access eligible services provided by other local organizations. Eligible services are:
light housekeeping
(such as laundry, cleaning); meal delivery and/

or preparation; • home maintenance (such as repairs, yard work, lawn mowing);

• transportation (such as to appointments, errands);

snow removal;

• volunteer dropoffs (such as groceries, medication, pet supplies); and

• friendly visiting in the home.

The Scaling Up for Seniors stream provides funds to eligible organizations to expand services that have already demonstrated results in helping seniors age in place. Applications must propose to deliver services in more than one province or territory. to apply for the In-Home Support Pilot Projects stream and the Scaling Up for Seniors stream of the Age Well at Home initiative until July 22, 2022.

Submitted by Drayton Valley

With the recruitment of two new physicians, the Drayton Valley Community Cancer Centre has resumed providing cancer care for patients in the community after a six-month service suspension due to staffing shortages.

Alberta Health Services

(AHS) is pleased to welcome Dr. Ike Akwu-ude and Dr. Valerie Smith to the Drayton Valley Community Cancer Centre. And it is welcome news for patients and the community alike.

"Having any sort of care disruption can have major effects on a community, and for patients, having to travel for the care they need can be an additional stressor. I'm so pleased that efforts by Alberta Health Services to resume cancer services in Drayton Valley have come to fruition," says Drayton Valley-Devon MLA Mark Smith.

"Thank you to Dr. Akwu-ude and Dr. Smith for offering care in this community."

Dr. Ike Akwu-Ude, a family physician from Red

Deer, is passionate about providing patient-centered care using evidence-based best practices and is now providing outpatient cancer care to the patients in Drayton Valley and surrounding area.

Dr. Valerie Smith is a family physician in Camrose, who has been practicing in the community since 1998. Located at the Camrose Community Cancer Clinic, she is now providing virtual cancer care from Camrose.

"The ability to once again offer cancer care to our patients in the Drayton Valley community and surrounding area is welcome news for our patients, the community, and our care providers," says Danielle Moch, Program Lead, Community Cancer Care.

The Drayton Valley Community Cancer Centre provides outpatient cancer treatments such as chemotherapy, biotherapy, immunotherapy, and targeted therapy, as well as cancer patient navigation services.

AHS continues to recruit across Central Alberta to meet community needs.

Alberta Health Services is the provincial health authority responsible for planning and delivering health supports and services for more than four million adults and children living in Alberta. Its mission is to provide a patient-focused, quality health system that is accessible and sustainable for all Albertans.

PARKLAND SEEK PUBLIC'S ASSISTANCE WITH IDENTIFYING ARMED ROBBERY SUSPECTS

Submitted by Parkland b RCMP

On June 1, 2022, at approximately 9 a.m., Parkland RCMP received a third party report of an armed robbery at an acreage in Parkland County. Police were able to contact the victim who confirmed that the incident had occurred, and a white Jeep Grand Cherokee had been stolen and subsequently recovered.

Preliminary investigation revealed that a white, older model GMC Jimmy or Chevrolet Blazer pulled onto the victim's property and the occupants began asking for directions to the highway. One of the suspects exited the vehicle and allegedly entered the victim's vehicle, which was running nearby. Another one of the occupants allegedly held the victim at gunpoint with a small handgun while the vehicle was being stolen.

The stolen vehicle was returned to the victim's property a short time later. The circumstances of the return of the vehicle are still under investigation.

Parkland RCMP are seeking the public's assistance with identifying the suspects involved in the robbery. Sketches have been compiled of two of the three suspects. They are described as follows: Driver:

June 14, 2022 Community VOICE Page 9 ALBERTA JOB NUMBERS ARE WAY UP.

Submitted by Mark Smith, MLA for Drayton Valley

According to the May 2022 Labour Force Survey, our province added 60,600 full-time jobs last month, all while unemployment plummeted to 5.3 per cent, its lowest level since 2014.

This marks seven straight months of job growth across a wide variety of economic sectors. Not just energy jobs, one news story noted that job growth in scientific and technical services, as well as transportation and warehousing, made-up most of our job gains.

Alberta is truly back. Of all the jobs created across the country last month, Alberta accounted for 69 per cent of that growth. Additionally, a recent report by Statistics Canada showed that at $1,264, Albertans are currently enjoying the highest average weekly earnings in the country. Albertans are working more, and they are earning more too!

These numbers are good news for all Albertans and mean that our economy is on the rebound and well on its way to a full recovery. Alberta's Recovery Plan is truly working to diversify the economy and create good jobs for Alberta families, and Alberta is once again the economic engine of Canada, as well as a lighthouse of opportunity for all those seeking economic prosperity from across the country and world.

Our United Conservative government is continuing to work to fast-track Alberta's economic recovery. Our Alberta Jobs Now and Alberta at Work programs are helping to empower everyday Albertans by giving them the tools they need to build fulfilling and lasting careers. These programs have been widely successful in helping to address labour challenges. We have also seen a significant decline in longterm unemployment and expect that trend to continue.

If we zoom out, the picture gets even more optimistic. Since January of 2021, Alberta has created 198,200 net new jobs, despite facing a global pandemic. This job growth stands in stark contrast to the hundreds of thousands of jobs the Notley NDP lost with no pandemic at all. While we have further to go, our United Conservative government has officially undone the damage done by the Not-ley NDP.

Alberta's economy is starting to boom, and our people are going back to work. Alberta's unemployment rate is lower today than at any point under the disastrous Notley NDP. And our conservative fiscal policies have allowed us to balance the budget for only the second time in over ten years.

It has been a long two years for many Albertans, but good times are quickly coming back. More than anything, credit must be given to Albertans for all their hard work and sacrifice. Albertans are the strongest and most innovative people in the world, and Alberta's economic success is a testament to that.

RCMP CONTINUES TO INVESTIGATE SUDDEN DEATH ON HIGHWAY 16

Submitted by Parkland RCMP

Parkland RCMP continue to investigate a sudden death that occurred on Highway 16 at the Jennifer Heil overpass on May 28, 2022. Police are seeking any information from the public which may assist in identifying a vehicle that was in the area at the time.

The vehicle is described as a dark coloured semi truck with flat deck trailer. It was observed between 1:30 a.m. and 1:45 a.m. on May 28, 2022. At the time, it was stopped on Highway 16, facing westbound, just west of the Jennifer Heil over-pass in Spruce Grove, Alta.

Page 10 Community VOICE June 14, 2022 HELPING COMMUNITY ORGANIZATIONS EXPAND AND DEVELOP NEW MENTAL HEALTH AND SUICIDE PREVENTION SUPPORTS FOR YOUTH.

Submitted by Government of Alberta

The Youth Suicide Prevention Grant Program is providing $3 million over the next two years to 13 youth-focused community programs. These organizations will use the grants to provide mental health support and services to priority youth populations at a higher risk for youth suicide.

"As part of our youth suicide prevention strategy, these grants will support youth-serving organizations across the province to continue and improve the amazing work they are already doing for kids in their communities." Rebecca Schulz, Minister of Children's Services

"Improving youth mental health is a top priority for our government. By partnering with community organizations, we are ensuring that youth suicide prevention supports are in place across Alberta. This is essential to help children and youth improve their mental health and prevent suicide." Mike Ellis, Associate Minister of Mental Health and Addictions

"We are pleased to have received funding for the Skills for Safer Living program. This program is an effective intervention support and service, serving youth and their families or caregivers. It empowers youth with practical skills to promote their recovery and help them live meaningful lives while equipping caregivers with the knowledge and skills they need to support and enhance the process." Mara Grunau, executive director, Centre for Suicide Prevention

"The First Nations Health Consortium is honoured to be a grant recipient. We are eager to begin our Life Promotion - Strength in the Journey project and look forward to working with the First Nation youth and their communities in Treaty 6, 7 and 8." Gordon Auger, senior manager of support services, First Nations Health Consortium ients are from regions across the province that work locally to serve and support the mental health of young people, including Indigenous youth. This increased funding will help to address gaps and community needs to provide improved mental health supports and programming.

In 2019, the Government of Alberta launched Building Strength, Inspiring Hope: A Provincial Action Plan for Youth Suicide Prevention 2019-2024. The Youth Suicide Prevention Grant Program was created to help advance the outcomes laid out in the action plan and continue the work achieved through the plan over its first two years.

A SEASON OF HOPE AND ACCOMPLISHMENT

Submitted by MLA Shane Geston

It's graduation season, and I can't tell you how much that means to me personally this year, as my oldest is graduating from High School. I just finished shooting a little video, as I am unable to make it to the ceremony in person this year at other schools, as I'll be playing the role of Dad / MLA at my son's ceremony. The message that I gave to the students is one that I'd like to share with you as well; they are based on observations that I've had over the years, things that have helped me to put things into perspective in both my work and personal lives.

1. Time is the most precious thing that anyone can give you. Respect that, cherish it, and don't squander that gift. We all are born, and we will all die, the biggest variable is how much time we have on God's green earth. The time we take for others, and for ourselves, is meaningful, so let's make the most of it.

2. Three basic nonnegotiable rules that I had for anyone joining one of our project teams or offices:

- a. Work Hard
- b. Have Fun

c. Don't let the team down

These rules were essential, not only for the success of the project, but for the success of the individual as well.

Working hard, not hardly working; if you are doing a job, do it well. You should obviously work smart, but also make sure that you put in a good honest effort. If you work hard, and are disciplined, you will not only achieve your goals, but will help many more along the way.

Have fun: whistle while you work, enjoy the moment, enjoy your downtime, look on the bright side. There are so many people that want to concentrate on the bad stuff, but we need to learn to see life for the fun it can be, for the small miracles around us, and share that enthusiasm. Don't forget to smile, it is contagious. And above all, have fun...it's way better than the other option.

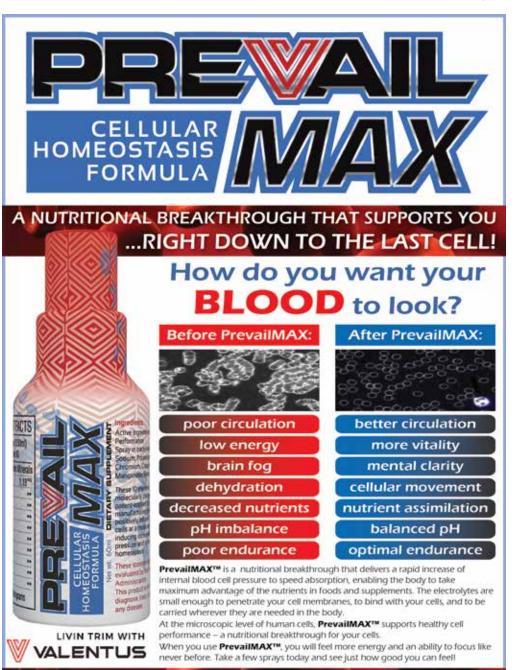

Being an army of one may sound cool, but quite frankly, unless you are part of a team, your goals will not be achieved. Again, people have invested time into you, giving the same commitment back to them is vital.

Do not let the team down.

Knowing that what you do will have an impact on others; they trust you, they have spent time with you and for you: do not let them down. If you master steps one and two, this third one will fall into place. I look forward to hearing all about the trials and tribulations, hopes and dreams. Graduation season is invigorating to me; it truly is inspiring when I see the new crop of young Albertans take their place and make their mark in our province. I know that the time others have contributed was not wasted, because these young Albertans are going to take us further than we ever could have imagined; we just need to make sure they have the best chance possible, and they will take it from there. They are a resilient and gritty group who have weathered a pandemic and made it to the finish line of graduation when all the odds were stacked against them. Let's continue to do our part, knocking down as many obstacles as possible, and get out of their way, because they will all too soon be grabbing the torch and leading the charge.

Congrats to all our 2022 graduates.

PROMOTING CRIME PREVENTION LICENCE PLATE ANTI-THEFT SECURITY SCREWS

Submitted by St. Albert RCMP

St. Albert RCMP, in partnership with St. Albert Neighbourhood Watch, will be providing free licence plate anti-theft security screw installation on Saturday, May 28, 2022 at Servus Place in the northwest parking lot, between 1:00 p.m. and 3:00 p.m.

St. Albert RCMP says the anti-theft security screws, a set of locking bolts, can be installed on vehicles to ensure your licence plate is not taken off your vehicle. While the devices will not help your vehicle itself from being stolen, RCMP say using the screws will prevent thieves from using your plate on another vehicle, which then may be used in criminal activity.

WHAT IS HEART FAILURE?

Submitted by Alberta Health Services

Heart failure means that your heart muscle doesn't pump as much blood as your body needs. Failure doesn't mean that your heart has stopped. It means that your heart is not pumping as well as it should.

Because your heart cannot pump well, your body tries to make up for it. To do this:

 Your body holds on to salt and water. This increases the amount of blood in vour bloodstream.

• Your heart beats faster.

· Your heart may get bigger.

Your body has an amazing ability to make up for heart failure. It may do such a good job that you don't know you have a disease. But at some point, your heart and body will no longer be able to keep up. Then fluid starts to build up in your body, and you have symptoms such as feeling weak and out of breath.

This fluid buildup is called congestion. It's why some doctors call the disease congestive heart failure.

Heart failure usually gets worse over time. But treatment can slow the disease and help you feel better and live longer.

What are the symptoms? Symptoms of heart failure start to happen when your heart cannot pump enough blood to the rest of your body. In the early stages, you may:

· Feel tired easily.

• Be short of breath when you exert yourself.

· Feel like your heart is pounding or racing (palpitations).

• Feel weak or dizzy.

As heart failure gets worse, fluid starts to build up in your lungs and other parts of your body.

This may cause you to:

• Feel short of breath even at rest.

• Have swelling (edema), especially in your legs, ankles, and feet.

· Gain weight. This may happen over just a day or two, or more slowly.

· Cough or wheeze, especially when you lie down.

· Feel bloated or sick to your stomach.

If your symptoms suddenly get worse, you will need emergency care.

Care at home

Lifestyle changes are an important part of treatment. They can help slow down heart failure.

They may also help control other diseases that make heart failure worse, such as high blood pressure, diabetes, and coronary artery disease.

The best steps you can take are to:

• Eat less sodium. Sodium causes your body to hold on to water and may make symptoms worse. Your doctor may also ask you to limit how much fluid you drink.

• Get regular exercise. Your doctor can tell you what level of exercise is safe for you, how to check your pulse, and how to know if you are doing too much.

 Take rest breaks during the day.

• Lose weight if you are overweight. Even a few kilograms can make a difference.

• Stop smoking. Smoking damages your heart and makes exercise harder to do.

· Limit alcohol. Ask your doctor how much, if any, is safe.

· Talk to your doctor before you take any new medicine, including non-prescription and prescription drugs, vitamins, and herbs. Some of them may make your heart failure worse.

• Keep track of your symptoms. Weigh yourself at the same time every day, and write down your weight. Call your doctor if you have a sudden weight gain, a change in your ability to exercise, or any sudden change in your symptoms.

Heart failure can get worse suddenly. If this happens, you will need emergency care. To prevent sudden heart failure, you need to avoid things that can trigger it. These include eating too much salt, missing a dose of your medicine, and exercising too hard.

Knowing that your health may get worse can be hard. It is normal to sometimes feel sad or hopeless. But if these feelings last, talk to your doctor or call Health Link at 811. Antidepressant medicines, counselling, or both may help you cope.

LIVING WITH OSTEOARTHRITIS

Submitted by Alberta Health Services

Osteoarthritis is a condition that affects a person's joints. It's caused by cartilage breaking down. As the cartilage breaks down, it makes the bones rub against each other. It is painful and can cause everyday movements to hurt.

causes osteoarthritis but it has been linked to aging, joint injuries, obesity and genetics.

Osteoarthritis symptoms It usually affects the spine, hips, hands, knees and feet. It can cause:

- Pain Stiffness
- Muscle weakness
- Deformed joints

· Reduced range of motion and loss of use of the joint

• Cracking and creaking Osteoarthritis treatments

Treatment is available. Speak with your family doctor to find out what is best for you. Treatments may include:

Pain medicine

· Pain-relieving gels or creams

- Steroid shots
- Physiotherapy
- Walking aids

• Applying heat or ice to the joint

- · Losing weight, if you're overweight
- · Exercising to strengthen your muscles

HELP KIDS LEARN THE GAME OF GOLF

Adults who play golf know just how fun and frustrating the game can be. Whether you're a veteran golfer or someone just learning the links, golf can be challenging.

But as exacting as the game can be, it also can be just as rewarding, even for kids. Children who embrace the game of golf will learn a host of lessons they can apply in all facets of life. A humbling game even for professional golfers, golf can teach kids lessons in humility and the value of persistence even when things aren't going your way.

Golf is also a great way for parents to get kids off the couch and outdoors for some fun in the sun. Instead of spending summer afternoons in front of the television, kids who play golf are out patrolling pristine golf courses while getting some cardiovascular exercise along the way. Golf can also strengthen a child's hand-eye coordination, which can help them in other activities, including many different sports.

Though many people do not begin playing golf until they've reached adulthood, it's never too early for boys and girls to start learning the game of golf. Parents of preschoolers can start their kids off with a toddler play set. Though it's just a toy, a play set can help lay a solid foundation for future golfers. Kids who have watched Mom and Dad play golf or practice their swing can develop their own swings on their play set.

As kids approach school age, don't overlook the nearby puttputt or miniature golf range as a valuable teaching tool. Miniature golf clubs are small enough for many children to use comfortably, and kids can use miniature golf courses as a place to put any lessons or advice on putting to good use. What's more, a miniature golf course is more than just golf, with creative courses and other fun activities, so kids won't feel overwhelmed with golf.

When kids move on from preschool to elementary school, some might want to tag along with Mom or Dad to the driving range. You should try to avoid overwhelming kids with too much instruction or information. Instead, keep things as simple as possible, teaching them the basic swing and encouraging them no matter how quickly they adapt.

As kids enter middle school and approach high school, those who are enjoying the game of golf can take advantage of the driving range if they haven't already begun to. A driving range typically has markers that indicate the distance of a regular hole, regardless of which tee you will play from on an actual golf course. Kids can aim for holes at shorter distances to learn how far their drives are going. You can then adjust the lessons you teach your children based on how far youngsters can drive the ball.

As a child gets closer to high school, you might want to buy the child his or her own set of clubs. Look for inexpensive clubs (oftentimes, thrift stores or other secondhand retailers have clubs for sale) because growing children will eventually grow out of their first set of clubs. When your child finds a set of clubs that suits him or her, teach the proper way to swing and consider signing up your son or daughter for lessons. Those first few lessons can prove invaluable, turning a pastime into a passion kids will carry with them throughout their lives.

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets ANSWER:

to solve the puzzle! Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!
