BOARD MEETING BRIEF

Submitted by GYPSD

Board Chair Karpluk acknowledged the Division's focus on literacy and targeted instruction in literacy skills by reminding everyone that National Library Week occurs each April. The Board celebrates both the public and school libraries across GYPSD for the important role libraries play in developing essential reading and comprehension skills while inspiring a lifelong love of reading.

Superintendent Lew- is provided an update on the Superintendent's Youth Council Research Work which was recently shared at uLead 2023 - an international conference for leaders in education.

Six students from each of the Division's five high schools have been meeting all year to develop key leadership skills and implement actions to improve their schools.

Secretary-Treasurer Sean Nicholson presented the annual budget principles model to the Board, illustrating the Division's focus on student learning through the allocation of resources, supports, and processes to develop and deepen students' literacy and numeracy skills. Additionally, the Board directs funds to support a full-day kindergarten program - beyond the half-day program funds from the province. This decision to allocate funds for full-day learning ensures GYPSD's children have a strong foundation from which to grow their success.

The Board Chair provided praise and appreciation for the many administrative professionals within the Division in acknowledgment of National Administrative Professional Day.

Musical Theatre program teacher (and Evergreen Local President) Jessie Smeall brought 43 students from Grades 4-7 from Ecole Mountain View Elementary School in Hinton to perform songs from the musical Matilda.

Ms. Smeall and the musical theatre students give up their lunch breaks to practice and rehearse. Look for their performance times for the musical Matilda opening June 14th!

Recently, members of the Board attended a professional learning session offered by the Public School Boards Association of Alberta (PSBAA). They heard from EPSB educators Clarice Anderson and Sheila Williams who shared the historical and current implications and their lived experiences of the Indian Act in "Things You Didn't Know about the Indian Act". Researcher and professor at the University of Calgary, Dr. Sharon Friesen shared her research findings in "Teacher and Professional Staff Recruitment and Retention for Rural and Northern Alberta." JOKE of the week

A young boy enters a barber shop and the barber whispers to his customer, "This is the dumbest kid in the world. Watch while I prove it to you." The barber puts a dollar bill in one hand and two quarters in the other, then calls the boy over and asks, "Which do you want, son?" The boy takes the quarters and leaves. "What did I tell you?" said the barber. "That kid never learns!" Later, when the customer leaves, he sees the same young boy coming out of the ice cream parlor. "Hey, son! May I ask you a question? Why did you take the quarters instead of the dollar bill?" The boy licked his cone and replied: "Because the day I take the dollar the game is over!"

Chair for the Canadian Rockies School Division and former Superintendent, Brian Callaghan provided guidance and insight into the province mandated professional profile standards in “Everything You Wanted to Know About Superintendent Performance Reviews and the SLQS.”

Superintendent Lewis shared highlights from her report, which included:

work with central and school leadership staff to review and analyze the implications of the new Funding Manual for 2023/24;

preparation for the development of the Division Departments’ 18-month

Strategic Plans preparation for the annual principals’ planning retreat.

Assistant Superintendent of Learning Services, Carra Aschenmeier shared her appreciation for principals Eric Bouchard and Steven Ripkens for their pilot of the Division’s new digital report card, for the support provided by Director of Technology, Lyle Lee and Educational Technology Supervisor Kandis Gilks, and to all of the educators who serve on the Division’s assessment committee. A survey will be shared with staff and parents for feedback on how to improve the functionality of the platform prior to a whole-Division rollout planned for the 2023/24 school year.

Superintendent Lewis and Secretary-Treasurer Sean Nicholson confirmed that GYPSD has received a 1.2 million dollar school wellness grant from Alberta Education. The Division plans to have Wellness Navigators within each of the five high schools starting September 2023.

In the Department’s update to the Board, HR shared their on-site PD to inform staff of GYPSD’s onboarding program. The program ensures that all new employees are aware of key Board and Division policies, processes, and supports.

Board Chair Karpluk asked that an advocacy item be added to the May PBM to address recent changes to services announced by the Alberta School Employee Benefit Plan (ASEBP).

Superintendent Lewis shared that the Division principals will be connecting with a Well at Work consultant from Ed Can to explore the development and deepening of their school’s health and wellness practices at their annual planning retreat.

SUPPORTING ALBERTA'S MILITARY MEMBERS AND VETERANS

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Advanced Education is investing more than $3 million to support rehabilitation and therapy for veterans through world-leading research at the University of Alberta.

Alberta's government is proud to support the brave Canadian sailors, soldiers and aviators who in active or former service have put the defence of Canada first in their lives.

That's why the government is providing $750,000 per year for the next five years to support the Heroes in Mind, Advocacy and Research Consortium (HiMARC) program at the University of Alberta. HiMARC is focused on supporting military members, veterans, public safety personnel and others who suffer from post-traumatic stress disorder (PTSD) through new and innovative treatment options.

PTSD is a serious health condition that is especially prevalent in military service and veteran populations. This funding will directly help Albertans who have made sacrifices for the province through their service while advancing research in this area of mental health. Ultimately, the results of this research will support a broad range of Albertans by offering new ways to treat mental health.

"This investment in research through HiMARC reflects the ongoing commitment to improve the health and quality of life of Canada's veterans, military members, first responders and their families. By advancing and supporting 3MDR, we are able to offer our community members new ways to treat mental health. I look forward to working closely with our many partners on the next steps for 3MDR therapy." Suzette Brémault-Phillips, director, Heroes in Mind, Advocacy and Research Consortium (HiMARC), University of Alberta

What makes HiMARC unique is its use of 3MDR:

a structured, repetitive, psychotherapeutic process. This treatment uses treadmill walking while using proven psychotherapy interventions and virtual reality technology to process traumatic events into memories. Clients physically walk on a treadmill throughout the treatment process where they are immersed into a virtual reality environment with a therapist by their side.

Budget 2023 secures Alberta's future by transforming the health-care system to meet people's needs, supporting Albertans with the high cost of living, keeping our communities safe and driving the economy with more jobs, quality education and continued diversification.

ANNUAL VEGETATION MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

Every year, CN is required to clear its right-of-way of any vegetation that may pose a safety hazard. Vegetation on railway right-of-way, if left uncontrolled, can contribute to trackside fires and impair proper inspection of track infrastructure.

For safe railway operations, CN will conduct its annual vegetation control program on its rail lines in the province of Alberta. A certified professional will be applying herbicides on and around the railway tracks (primarily along the 16 – 24 feet graveled area/ballast). All product requirements for setbacks in the vicinity of dwellings, aquatic environments, and municipal water supplies will be met.

The program is expected to take place from May to October 2023. Visit www.cn.ca/vegetation to see the list of cities as well as the updated schedule.

STEPS TO A MORE ORGANIZED, FUNCTIONAL GARAGE

Organization can help homeowners transform their homes into less cramped, more spacious oases without forcing them to finance potentially expensive expansion projects.

Homeowners who park in their driveways may find that their garages have become crowded, cluttered spaces in which searching for tools can feel like scouring a haystack in search of a needle. Organizing a garage can create extra room in a home while affording homeowners the chance to protect their vehicles from the elements. Homeowners who want to turn their garages into something more than cluttered storage units can employ the following strategies to transform these largely overlooked areas into more valuable spaces.

Choose the right day. Garages tend to be separate from the rest of the homes they're a part of, meaning the only way to organize a garage is to first remove all items from the garage and into the driveway. Because items removed from the garage will be exposed to the elements, homeowners should choose a day that's temperate and sunny to clean their garages. If possible, homeowners should opt to organize their garages in late spring, summer or early fall when there are additional hours of daylight. This protects homeowners from having to work in the dark should the job take longer than they initially anticipated.

Discard or donate duplicate items. Duplicate items are some of the main culprits behind cluttered garages.

As garages gradually become more cluttered, homeowners may buy tools they already have simply because they cannot find their original tools. When organizing the garage, create separate piles for duplicate tools, placing still-useful items in a pile that can be donated to neighbors, local charities or organizations and another pile for old tools that are no longer useful.

- Host a garage sale. Homeowners who want to organize their garages and make a buck at the same time can host garage sales. Make only those items that are still functional available for purchase, and let neighbors and bargain hunters do the bulk of your organization work for you.

- Designate areas of the garage for certain items. Once the items that won't be going back into the garage have been sold, donated or discarded, organize the garage by designating areas for certain items, making sure to separate items that can pose safety risks. For example, store kids' bicycles and outdoor toys in a corner of the garage that is opposite the corner where potentially dangerous items such as power tools and gas cans will be stored. Keep the center of the garage open for vehicles.
- Periodically park cars in the garage. Homeowners who are comfortable parking their vehicles in their driveways can improve their chances of maintaining organized garages over the long haul by periodically parking in the garage. Doing so not only prevents the gradual buildup of clutter that can slowly take over a garage, but also protects homeowners' automotive investments.

Maintaining an organized garage can help homeowners make more practical use of the space in their homes.

Spring HOME RENO GUIDE

THE PROBLEM WITH HARD WATER

Hard water can cause scaling, deposits inside of pipes, reduced cleaning ability, and several other problems.

Home ownership opens people's eyes to many new experiences, even requiring homeowners to familiarize themselves with certain things they never encountered as renters. Homeowners become novice plumbers, electricians, horticulturists, and even chemists as they wade through the projects and repairs involved with owning a home.

Outside of high school chemistry class, you may never have given thought to water composition and how it changes. However, once you become a homeowner, you may have to pay special attention to the type of water bubbling out of your faucets. Hard water is a common concern, and it can affect appliances and other parts of the home.

What is hard water? Hard water affects about 85 percent of the United States, according to the Water Quality Association. Although not harmful to human health, hard water can impact one's daily life in other ways.

Hard water is formed when water moves through soil and rock. It dissolves very small amounts of minerals and holds them in a solution. Calcium and magnesium are the most common minerals to turn water "hard." The more magnesium and calcium water dissolves, the harder it becomes.

From nuisance to damaging

Hard water can not only be a minor headache, but also something more serious. Hard water can interfere with various cleaning tasks and also personal grooming. Clothes washed in hard water may not be fully clean and may appear dingy. Hard water can cause a film on surfaces, such as bath tiles and tubs. Some people find that their hair and skin can appear dull and sticky due to hard water.

Hard water can have other effects, too. Over time, the water can deposit minerals on the inside of pipes, reducing water flow. If these deposits grow thick, you may have a plumbing issue on your hands. Furthermore, mineral deposits can harm appliances, such as water heaters, washing machines and dishwashers. Eventually, hard water may render these appliances ineffective, and they will need to be replaced.

Treatment options Considering hard water is such a common concern, a number of treatment options exist. The main types of water-softening systems use either a packaged water softener or a mechanical water-softening unit.

Packaged water softeners are chemicals that bond with the calcium and magnesium ions in the water so that they cannot interfere with cleaning efficiency. These chemicals fall into two categories: precipitating and nonprecipitating. Precipitating softeners are borax and washing soda and can affect pH levels of water and make water cloudy. Nonprecipitating softeners use phosphates. Alkalinity won't be increased, and usually there is no cloudiness or buildup. These products are typically added to laundry loads and the like and are not recommended for drinking water.

Mechanical water-softening systems are hooked up directly to the plumbing of the house. They are ion-exchange systems that will add salt to the water. Although it can be safe to drink, softened water may not be recommended for those who are on low-sodium diets.

Hard water is a problem many homeowners have to face. It can affect a home's appliances' performance and cleaning abilities. Water hardness can be managed, and it is best to consult with an expert water-softening system manufacturer about your options.

HOW TO MAKE SURE YOUR NEW HOME IS BUILT FASTER

If you're in the market for a newly built home, you probably have a long list of requirements for your builder. Everyone's list is different, but one common element is that your new home needs to be ready quickly, or at the very least, on time. Yet we've all heard the horror stories of construction delays and families having to move out of their old homes before their new ones are ready. Fortunately, there's a way you can help ensure your home is built faster - ask your builder to use insulated concrete forms.

"A huge step forward is to replace the traditional wood framing of your house with what we call ICFs - insulated concrete forms," says Keven Rector at Nudura, a leading name in this technology. "ICF construction assures the adherence to American building codes, it takes up less shipping space, requires less manpower at the site, and the assembly is faster than wood framing. Time-strapped builders and eager homeowners benefit equally from this efficiency."

The compact ICFs are delivered to the construction site, where each form interlocks with the next to quickly assemble one strong monolithic wall.

ICFs also do more than get you into your new home quicker - they maximize energy efficiency, reduce drafts and cold spots, form an effective barrier to unwanted outside noise, and make your home less prone to mold. In addition, homes built with insulated concrete wall systems are more environmentally friendly and disaster-resilient.

"Our advanced design combines two panels of thick (EPS) foam with the structural strength and thermal mass of concrete," Rector explains. "The resulting envelope immediately gives your house hurricane wind-resistance up to 250 miles per hour. Concrete walls also deliver an energy efficiency rating as high as R-50 (compared to an average R-20 in wood structures), saving you up to 70 percent on utility bills. With the concrete option, countless trees remain untouched and with lowered energy consumption and less tapping of natural resources every day, imagine how much your house will contribute to recapturing a sustainable environment over the years."

If you want your builder to use ICFs, be sure to discuss it early in the plans. Find more information online at nudura.com.

TYING UP LOOSE ENDS AND LOOKING BACK

Submitted by MLA Shane Getson

When it comes to tying up loose ends and looking back on what has been accomplished thus far, I'm full steam ahead with bringing my major projects to a state where I can let them go on their own in good faith for the next couple of months. The Economic Corridor file is in decent shape, there are department leads and one heck of a Deputy Minister in place to ensure we don't lose any momentum there. We managed to get all three prairie provinces to sign an agreement to develop, as well as designate, Economic Corridors of mutual interest. What this basically means is that we just obtained access to the Hudson Bay, and are making plans to align our rails, roads, right of ways, transmission lines, communications, and pipelines for years to come; the positive ramifications of this are huge. We are aligning our policies and infrastructure as it relates to economic corridors.

I managed to wrap up the Career Education Task Force, and the Minister of Education made the formal announcement this week that she is immediately implementing 5 of the 21 recommendations. This will ensure that our kids can get onto their chosen path much quicker, and that post-secondary institutions and future employers are going to be receiving a motivated and enthusiastic crop of young adults that are going to positively light up the future.

I've instructed my staff to ensure that any critical files that we have in the office that need my attention get wrapped up this next week, and that we ensure if and or when the election is called, that we don't stop working to get people the help they need. I won't be in the office, and may not have the MLA title, but that does not mean my staff will stop. We may be a skeleton crew here, but what matters to you most will be taken care of. I don't want the next MLA to be starting from scratch like I had to four years ago. I'll ensure there is a smooth transition, and that outstanding files won't be left in limbo. One of the least professional things I have ever experienced was having no handoff from the previous MLA. The MLA works for you and, regardless of political stripes or personal feelings, anything less is a huge disservice to the constituents that we serve.

Someone had asked me a while back if I was happy with all that I had accomplished over my last 4 years, and the short answer is yes. There are so many more things that I had hoped to accomplish however...that's just my "Type A" personality raising its head again. To me, the project is not complete, we're still only in Phase 1, and we had a few unforeseen events that knocked us back from our planned schedule for deliverables. I had hoped to have all the western provinces, northern territories, and the adjacent USA states, including Alaska, signed up under an economic corridor agreement. So, if given the chance, I'll be back to ensure we get that completed. I want to make sure we get the health-care we deserve out in our area, and that will require some meaningful reform. I want to make sure the items brought to light by our career education task force get fully implemented - ensuring our kids can really have all the doors opened to them. I want to ensure that our rural Alberta advantage is fully realized. I want to make sure that we collaborate with our friends, neighbors, and trading partners locally and internationally. I want to make sure Alberta's best interests are always put forward.

Several of my colleagues who have decided to seek office for a second term feel the same way: we have been through a lot and can't fathom losing all the gains we have made if we are not able to go one more round in the ring. For those that have chosen to allow others to take their place I have nothing but admiration and respect for them. Many have already been in office for a few terms, have family or health issues that need more attention, or have accomplished what they set out to do. Many of us (I would hazard to guess 80% of us) didn't run the first time to become career politicians. So, the fact that a handful have decided to go back to their private lives and businesses and trust the rest of us to carry on without them is a testament to how strong of a team we have. After the last few years, we are battle-hardened, and have a renewed vision and belief in what can be done if we all work together to keep our province moving forward. Apparently, others believe in that too, as we haven't seen this volume of net migration into Alberta from across the county since the 1950s.

Over the past few Sundays, I have been spending time out at the senior's homes in the constituency. I want to understand if there are any outstanding items that I can lend a hand with, if they have heard any troubling items on the news, or if they just have questions that I could address to the best of my ability. The other reason is to seek advice and wisdom. I sure missed being able to get together with the seniors over the last few years, and these past few Sundays have been very precious to me. Some of the initiatives that I'll be looking for help with from the schools, the villages, the counties, and various management associations are:

1. Let's connect seniors with our youth. Mental health and lack of purpose are two major issues that they face. I can't think of too many things that will have better impacts on purpose, community and wellbeing as helping some of our seniors out

HAY YOU!

Would you like to be a producer of weed-free forage in Yellowhead County?

Yellowhead County is one of 20 municipalities who are part of the Alberta Certified Weed-Free Forage program and we want to help you get certified!

How It Works

- A crop must be inspected within 10 days of harvest
- Inspectors can certify all OR a portion of a field as 'weed-free'.
- Inspectors even have the authority to certify fields with weeds present, provided that no propagative plant parts (flowers, seed heads, root fragments) will enter the baled forage!

Interested in getting your field inspected?
 Contact Yellowhead County Agricultural Services at 780-325-3782 or email the AISC at info@abinvasives.ca.

For a list of Certified Weed Free Forage Producers, or to be added to the list, visit abinvasives.ca with the little things, and in return having the seniors pass along that sage advice, wisdom, and knowledge to our youth. I'll hopefully be able to get a few things kicked off that will bear fruit over the next couple of months.

2. A Silver Trail that gets extra TLC from the rest of us, to assist in what the seniors need to be able to get out and about in our communities.

3. Chairs and tables, so our seniors can get outside and enjoy some of the great weather after being inside for the winter.

4. Let's get some raised gardening beds and flower beds out at our lodges. Gardening does wonders for the soul, and we all know that there's nothing better than home grown carrots.

It has been quite the experience getting to know so many people in the area over the last few years; I can confidently put one hand on my heart, the other on the Bible, and look anyone in the eye knowing full well I did my best to do the best job I could. My office has done the same thing - we've done all that we can to make sure we represented you and advocated for you.

I left nothing behind when it came to being the voice for folks in my area regardless of their political preferences, and I have often had a few folks scratching their heads over my questions or my approach. It has been very unconventional at times, but based on the feedback that we have received, it has been effective in getting the right things done for folks when they needed it the most.

It has been an absolute privilege to be your MLA over these last few years. I know the official name of our constituency is Lac Ste Anne - Parkland, but I'll always call it God's country; not only for the scenery, but because of the folks that choose to call this corner of the province home.

of the week

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

We now carry Manuli! They are a European manufacturer and they engineer it all in Europe. All of their product is produced in their own factory, no outsource. Adding this in we have been able to gain access to many of the European fittings that have become much more common in North America.

BSPB, Metric Din, Metic cone, JIS.

These fittings are clear across all brands John Deere, Case, New Holland, JCB, Fendt, Massey Ferguson. Many of the implements that have been sold in the last few years have also used these predominantly European fittings.
