TRUDEAU-APPOINTED SENATORS VOTE AGAINST FARMERS ON BILL C-234

Submitted by MP Gerald Soroka

Gerald Soroka, Member of Parliament for Yellowhead, issued the following statement:

"It is both disappointing and deeply concerning to see Trudeau-appointed Senators taking deliberate steps to undermine Bill C-234, an Act to amend the Greenhouse Gas Pollution

Pricing. This bill is designed to exempt Canadian farmers from the federal carbon tax; a common-sense change that would help farmers.

Trudeau-Appointed Senators Vote Against Farmers On Bill C-234

These Senators have gone beyond political posturing to playing games with the livelihoods of our farming community.

“By supporting an amendment proposed by Senator Pierre Dalphond during the clause-by-clause study at the Senate Committee on Agriculture, these Senators aim to gut Bill C-234 of its core purpose. The amendment, if carried through, will remove the carbon tax exemption for the heating or cooling of agricultural buildings. This action is not only in complete disregard of our hardworking farmers but also serves as an example of how far these Senators are willing to go to jeopardize the well-being of all Canadians.

“The intent behind these amendments is clear: to gut the Bill and send it back to the House of Commons in a form that is unlikely to be passed. This is a calculated move by Trudeau-appointed Senators and is especially troubling when Senate Government Representatives involve themselves in the voting of Private Members Bills, which is highly unusual.

“MP Ben Lobb’s Bill C-234 is a Common-Sense Conservative plan to exempt the Canadians that put food on our table from this Liberal carbon tax. It aims to provide necessary financial relief to Canadian farmers and their families who have long struggled under the weight of high taxes. By seeking to dismantle this Bill, Trudeau-appointed Senators are not standing up for Canadian farmers or the larger public.

“We remain steadfast in our commitment to defend common sense principles and will continue to fight for policies that prioritize the needs and livelihoods of everyday Canadians over blatant political maneuvering.”

A tiger was walking through the jungle one day and saw two men relaxing under a tree. One was reading a newspaper, and the other was working feverishly on a manual typewriter.

The tiger leapt on the man with the newspaper, and ate him up. The tiger did not bother the other man at all. That’s because any predator knows that readers digest but writers cramp

FARMFAIR INTERNATIONAL IS BACK WITH ALBERTA'S LARGEST BEEF CATTLE SHOW

Submitted by Farmfair International

Farmfair International runs Nov. 8 to Nov. 11 at the Edmonton EXPO Centre

Exhibitors from across Western Canada are set to gather in Edmonton Nov. 8-11, to showcase their top livestock genetics to purebred producers, local ranchers and international buyers at Farmfair International.

One of Canada's top agricultural shows, Farmfair International also brings the farm to the city, with a rabbit show, honey competition, a Farmfair Field Trip and more for the whole family to enjoy.

After the cattle shows and other events are done, Tom Cochrane, Trooper, Sass Jordan and the Cam Student Band are topping off Farmfair, Saturday, Nov. 11, at the Flair Airlines Hangar at Edmonton EXPO Centre.

Volunteers help make Farmfair International an Alberta agricultural showcase

Farmfair International has grown to be a must-see agricultural show thanks to the help of volunteers from across Alberta.

Les Dunford, of Westlock, Alta., has been photographing and reporting on the Farm Family Awards at Farmfair International for over 30 years. It is an event he looks forward to every year, as he enjoys learning about the histories of the pioneering families who helped make Alberta the agriculturally rich province it is today. Although it is becoming more difficult to find multigenerational farms now, there remains every county who work together to produce cattle, grow grain and raise families.

Les feels it is important for hard working farm families to be recognized as they make a big contribution not only in the food they produce, but in the way they support their local communities. As Les likes to say, "without farms, you are not going to eat very well."

Farmfair has evolved over the years, but the BMO Farm Family Awards has fundamentally not changed in its purpose and importance. It still honours those that work the land and put food on our tables.

Farmfair's expanded focus on educating school children about where their food comes from and encouraging urban families to get up close with farm animals, is more important than ever, as many of us lose connection with farming. You do not need to own a farm to experience one - just come to Farmfair!

Many purebred cattle producers from all over Alberta have shown their prized animals at Farmfair over the years. Colleen Prefontaine's father raised purebred Hereford cattle, which Colleen remembers bringing to Farmfair International to groom and show, which was always an exciting time for her and her family. It was a winning go in the calf scramble though, where she was feisty enough to grab hold of a Limousin calf, that turned her attention to the newer breed. Colleen grew up, married Bernie Prefontaine and they raise cattle - Limousin cattle - which their children showed at Farmfair, starting when their youngest daughter was just seven years old. Colleen was Barn Boss of the Limousins for years, and later became the smiling, ever-so-helpful face in the show office. Now in Legal,

Alta., and originally from Busby, she has been a volunteer at Farmfair International for over 25 years. She is proud to be one of five generations that showed cattle at this long-standing event.

Colleen would love to see more people from the city come to Farmfair to "meet" the farm animals and see how well treated these animals are. She laughed and said that those show cattle are pretty darn spoiled, and it's great to see a new generation of young people involved in raising beef cattle.

Cattle producers like Colleen and her family are proud to bring their livestock to the city, and would love to share their knowledge and passion for agriculture with others. She says it is a great place to meet down-to-earth people and connect with old friends. Come to Farmfair to experience a little bit of the friendly farm environment for yourself!

For information about all the shows and events at Farmfair International, visit farmfairinternational.com.

CAR RENTAL TIPS HELP SAVE TIME AND MONEY

Many people resolve to enjoy life to the fullest, and that may involve indulging in new experiences and traveling to different locales. The United States Travel Association says nearly four out of five domestic trips taken are for leisure, and 1.7 billion person-trips, or travel taken by a person away from home overnight to places 50 miles away or more, were logged in 2015.

Ground transportation remains one of the most popular means of getting around. People who choose not to use their own vehicles for travel often find that a rental vehicle suits their purposes and can be quite convenient. Consumers seeking a rental car can ensure their travel plans go smoothly with these tips.

- Travel off-season. Not only might travelers save on airline tickets, hotel accommodations and more when traveling off-season, but they also can save on rental cars. For example, according to the Abrams Travel Data Index, consumers can expect to pay 56 percent less in March for a rental car than they would renting the same vehicle in July.

- Know what you want. Before renting, decide which type of vehicle will best fit your needs. If you're traveling with children, you may need a van or a large sedan, rather than a compact car. If travel includes certain hobbies, such as skiing or bicycle riding, look for a rental with a ski or bike rack or one that can fit such accessories. Those concerned with the environment may want to rent an eco-friendly model.

- Shop around. Major car rental agencies are located all over the world. However, depending on where you travel, locally owned companies may offer comparable service and lower rates. Lower operating costs (think no franchise fees or big advertising budgets) mean these rentals typically cost 15 to 30 percent less than rentals from mainstream agencies. Research lesser-known rental companies beforehand to compare prices and read any reviews to see if these businesses are up to the standards of larger, better-known chains.

Car Rental Tips Help Save Time And Money

Avoid renting from an airport. It may be convenient to step off a plane and grab a rental right there. However, rental car agencies operating at airports may pass on airport surcharges to their customers. Try a car rental service away from the airport and take a shuttle or cab to get there.

Understand mileage caps. According to Angie's List, some rental car companies offer unlimited miles for a rental period, while others may employ mileage caps. Read the fine print of the agreement, especially if you'll be using the rental for long-distance driving.

Ask about membership affiliation. Inquire about discounts for any major national organizations, frequent flier programs and credit card programs to which you may belong. If you're employed by a company that frequently rents cars, they may have a negotiated rate for employees.

Investigate insurance coverage. You may be able to decline extra insurance coverage at the rental desk. Some personal automotive policies will cover collision damage and personal liability for temporary use of a rental car, according to MileCards.com, a travel rewards card comparison website. What is not covered by your insurance may be covered by secondary insurance offered by the credit card used at booking.

Rental cars are a major component of travel. Consumers can save money and make trips even easier by understanding some of the basics of renting.

HOW DRIVERS CAN MAKE CITY DRIVING SAFER

Many drivers will never find themselves behind the wheel of a car or truck within city limits. But when the occasion calls for driving in crowded cities where conditions are more hectic than in the suburbs or rural areas, drivers can take steps to make themselves more comfortable.

- Drive a vehicle with an automatic transmission. City driving features lots of stop-and-go traffic, which can make driving cars with manual transmissions more stressful. When possible, drive vehicles with automatic transmissions in crowded cities. Doing so may even help drivers be more aware of their surroundings.

- Drive small cars. Small cars are easier to maneuver within city limits than large vehicles. Mid-size sedans, trucks and SUVs can be more difficult to parallel park, and even when spaces are available, such vehicles might not fit. City dwellers tend to rely more on public transportation than their own vehicles, so drivers moving to cities might find small cars align better with their new lifestyles than large automobiles.

- Use parking assist technology. Drivers who are somewhat rusty with regard to parallel parking may find parking assist technology makes it considerably easier to squeeze into tight city spots. Rear-mounted cameras that project onto the vehicle's dashboard navigation screen can help drivers avoid bumping other cars when backing in, while sensors can notify drivers when they're getting too close to other cars.

- Remember to be watchful for pedestrians. Drivers used to driving in suburban or rural areas may not encounter pedestrians all that often. But pedestrians can be found all over cityscapes and often have the right of way. Even when they don't, pedestrians may not be as attentive as motorists. As a result, drivers should be watchful for pedestrians at all times, even waiting an extra second when lights turn green to avoid pedestrians who might still be in crosswalks.

- Resolve to drive slowly. Always obey speed limits when driving in a city, even when it seems like no motorists or pedestrians are sharing the roads. Sightlines are often blocked when driving in cities, and pedestrians or children playing can suddenly appear in roadways that seemed empty moments before. Driving slowly within city limits reduces the likelihood that drivers will hit pedestrians with their cars or trucks.

SUDOKU

of the week

Here's How It Works: Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!
