JOKE of the week

A sign was hung in an office window. It read: "Help wanted. Must type 70 words a minute. Must be computer literate. Must be bilingual. An equal opportunity employer." A dog was ambling down the street and saw the sign. He looked at it for a moment, pulled it down with his mouth, and walked into the manager's office, making it clear he wished to apply for the job. The office manager laughed and said, "I can't hire a dog for this job." The dog pointed to the line: "An equal opportunity employer." So the manager said, "OK, take this letter and type it." The dog went off to the word processor and returned a minute later with the finished letter, perfectly formatted. The manager said, "Alright, here's a problem. Write a computer program for it and run it." Fifteen minutes later, the dog came back with the correct answer. The manager still wasn't convinced. "I still can't hire you for this position. You've got to be bilingual." The dog looked up at the manager and said, "Meow."

RURAL CRIME AWARENESS

Protect machinery from theft by leaving valuables locked in a shed or storage facility and by marking equipment with your drivers licence and province of issue (an engraver can be borrowed free of charge from most local police detachments).

Protect livestock by checking herds regularly and keeping accurate records of livestock born, sold or purchased.

“Grain Fette” or “Grain Guard” is a unique approach to identifying your crops. Small bits of paper, each one imprinted with your special code number, are mixed with grain as grain is being augered into the storage shed. This is approved by the Canadian Grain Commission. The paper used is also digestible in animal feed.

Utilize the Report-A-Poacher Program. Their toll free number is 1-800-642-3800.

Rural Crime Watch Members are concerned citizens who are watchful for unusual activity in their community. They record information on suspicious people and vehicles and pass it along to local police. Join together with your neighbours to install a crime watch program in your area. Do not approach suspicious individuals on your own.

IT'S YOUR DUTY TO REPORT AN IMPAIRED DRIVER

TIPS TO SPOT AN IMPAIRED DRIVER

Drivers who are impaired by fatigue, drugs, alcohol or other distractions such as cell phones, are a danger not only to themselves, but also to the innocent drivers around them. If you witness any of the behaviors below, call 911 and tell the operator that you are calling to report an impaired driver. Be prepared to describe the make, model, color and license plate number of the vehicle, and provide its exact location.

Signs of impaired driving include:

- Failure to turn on headlights at night.
- Illegal or sudden turning.
- Turning within an unusually wide radius.
- Nearly striking other cars or objects.
- Sudden or erratic braking.
- Drifting, swerving or weaving.
- Driving with the face close to the windshield.
- Drinking alcohol in the vehicle.
- Driving much slower than the posted speed limit.
- Rapidly accelerating.
- Tailgating.
- Driving in the middle of the road, or with the left tires on the center line.
- Responding slowly to traffic signals

WEED INSPECTORS

ARE IN YOUR AREA THIS SUMMER

County Weed Inspectors will be out in full force, documenting various invasive plants on both County and private lands.

DID YOU KNOW? Although the Weed Control Act (S.M.A. 2007, section 12) automatically grants an inspector right of entry onto private land, Yellowhead County chooses to utilize a "door knocking" program to make contact with landowners before a weed inspection takes place.

You may see a white County vehicle near your property and an inspector in a high visibility vest performing weed inspections. Please be considerate of their safety.

WHAT TO EXPECT

If home, you will be informed of the approximate date and time of the inspection. Inspectors can address any questions or concerns that you may have at that time.

If not home, a placard will be found on your door or gate letting you know that an inspector was there and that you can call for more info before the inspection.

The results of the inspection(s) and weed information sheets will be mailed out to the landowners within a couple weeks of the completed inspection(s).

For more info visit yhcounty.ca or call the Agricultural Services Department at the Wildwood County Office at 1-800-814-3935

Inspector right of entry onto private land during reasonable hours (The Weed Control Act, Part 3, and Section 12). The Agricultural Services Department of Yellowhead

County believes that a courtesy should be extended to landowners to inform them of what is taking place on their property. The County continues to promote a "Door Knocking" Program to make contact with landowners before a weed inspection takes place.

We inform the property owners of the approximate date and time of when an inspection will take place, and the Weed Inspectors can then address any questions or concerns the landowner may have at that time. If landowners are not home during the time of the "Door Knocking" Program, they will find a placard on their door or gate letting them know that an inspector was there and that they can call the inspector for more information before the actual inspection takes place. The results of the inspection(s) and weed information sheets will be mailed out to the landowners within a couple weeks of the completed inspection(s).

If you would like more information regarding the Weed Inspection program, please visit the Yellowhead County Website at www.yhcounty.ca or phone the Agricultural Services Department at the Wildwood County Office at 1-800-814-3935.

They had time to check out the cover, and then sample a summary of the novel including the first few pages/chapters to see if it was to their taste.

Students then recorded their observations and thoughts on their “menu” and noted if they were interested in reading the book.

Along with the book tasting, students also were given some actual tasty treats to snack on. The students then ranked their top three books and had the opportunity to request the library to order in books for them. At the end of the event, students chose from some parting gifts and handed in their menus. Junior high students all attended this literacy event, while high school students signed up for the chance to participate.

Book tastings are a fantastic way to engage students in reading, exposing them to a wide variety of genres, and allowing them to experience books they might not otherwise choose.

EMERGENCIES CAN HAPPEN ANYTIME, ANYWHERE. ARE YOU READY?

Submitted by Spruce Grove

This Emergency Preparedness Week (May 4 to 10), take the time to learn how you and your family can stay safe when the unexpected happens. Join Tri-Municipal Region emergency services on Saturday, May 10 from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. outside Stony Plain Town Hall (4905 51 Avenue) for Emergency Preparedness Day, a free, family-friendly event featuring hands-on activities, safety education, and opportunities to connect with local first responders.

“Whether it’s wildfire, flood, or extreme weather, our communities are not immune to emergencies,” says Stony Plain Mayor William Choy. “We’re proud to bring together regional partners and emergency crews to empower residents with practical tools and knowledge. Preparedness starts with awareness, and together, we can build safer and more resilient communities.”

“Emergency preparedness is essential for protecting lives, property, and communities during unexpected events,” said Spruce Grove Mayor Jeff Ackler. “By planning ahead, we can significantly reduce the impact of emergencies, minimize injuries and property damage, and save lives. Being prepared also fosters resilience and allows our communities to recover faster after a disaster or emergency event.”

“Parkland County has seen residents forced to evacuate their homes due to the devastating effects of wildfires in recent years,” said Parkland County Mayor Allan Gamble. “By collaborating with our Tri-Regional partners and first responders on this event, we can ensure that everyone can take comfort in being prepared rather than scared should an emergency event occur and have some family fun at the same time.”

Attendees can expect a variety of engaging activities for all ages, including:

Interactive booths with emergency preparedness information

Equipment displays from emergency agencies across the Tri-Region

Photo opportunities with first responders and emergency vehicles

Appearances by Sparky the Fire Dog

A BBQ and concession area

“Preparedness isn’t just about having a kit or a plan, it’s about knowing your risks and having confidence in your ability to respond,” says Stony Plain Fire

Chief Jason Nesbitt. “This event gives residents a chance to meet the people who respond to emergencies in our region and learn firsthand what steps they can take to protect themselves and their families.”

A HOME FOR THE ARTS

Submitted by Richelle Larouche

When most people think of places that represent 'the Arts,' images of rural Alberta are not what usually come to mind, but maybe it should. There is a small community of artists west of Edmonton surviving mostly on determination and the dream of one day making art accessible to smaller communities and changing the perspective on who can be an artist. Today, we're going to be meeting one such inspired creative and their hope for what the future of art could be in Parkland and Yellowhead County.

Brie Adkins of Entwistle, Alberta, has been painting murals for five years. Several of these murals can be found on buildings in both Entwistle itself and the neighbouring community of Evansburg. Not only do they add beauty to the area, but they are also excellent advocates for what the community values. Her mural on the side of the J. D. Read building was one of the very things that drew my husband and I to the area when looking to purchase our first home at the height of the pandemic and subsequently proved Brie's belief that art can bring new life to a community.

Brie hasn't achieved these murals alone, however. Coordinating such a large project involves a massive commitment of time and resources that very few people alone could manage. Unfortunately, finding the aid and support needed to make these projects come true is incredibly challenging, as there are so few opportunities provided by our rural counties to give back to the arts community outside of major cities.

In Brie's case, a little luck and a whole lot of work went into crowdfunding for two of her murals, 'Painting the Pembina (2019-2020)' and the 'Evansburg Mural (2021).' Local businesses and many residents all pitched in what they could and raised money that then went into the cost of the mural and additionally donated over $10,000 that then went to three local schools (Entwistle School, Grand Trunk High School, and Evansview). These donations were done in order to help support art classes and art education that also do not see a lot of funding. While that sounds like a lot of money, and it is when it comes to one person raising it in an area of just over 1000 full-time residents, it's really a drop in the bucket when you consider the number of children that pass through the school system who can benefit from art programs.

Of course, a couple of murals aren't the end of Brie's ideas and ambitions, as she's still a long way from raising the awareness needed to prove how vitally important the arts are, no matter the size and location of your community.

In the summer of 2023, she started a project that involved fixing up a set of tunnels that pass beneath Highway 16, turning the pedway that connects both halves of Entwistle into the 'Free Wall Project.' The Free Wall Project creates a legal space where artists can come and express themselves with their own mini murals that don't require navigating the process of finding someone willing to let them freestyle paint on their walls. To kick the project off, all the children from Entwistle School (K-9) came out on a field trip to paint whatever they wanted on the prepped cement. This resulted in a very 'of the times' experience, including many references to the video game 'Among Us,' which was having its moment in the sun, as well as things from more traditional children's artistry like flowers and butterflies.

All of this work, the supplies for the school, and organization were once again done by Brie and purchased with her own money, as her attempts to get community development funding from Parkland County were getting nowhere. With as little available as there is, it's no surprise that many people are often in competition for these grants, and unfortunately, they often go to supporting the larger cities in the district and neglecting smaller towns.

But Brie wasn't going to let that stop her, and even though it slowed down her process, she still achieved creating some beauty in those tunnels where you can currently appreciate some of her own work as well as pieces from Robin Schnierer and Jacques Oulette, Edmonton artists and friends of Brie.

They may not be there forever, though, as the beauty of the 'Free Wall Project' is that it was meant to be an ever-changing display of local and travelling artists. New ideas will eventually cover the old as time goes on, and the tunnels will remain an open and safe place for all artists to come, create, and even collaborate.

From there, Brie set her sights on another staple of the community that deserves a new look. She applied for the SANG Community Enhancement Grant with a proposal to paint the Entwistle Hall with a group of youths. The community rallied together and voted for the project, pushing it to the top and winning the funding.

At the start of April 2025, a call went out looking for young artists from the ages of 5 to 21 to submit an application with examples of their work to Brie. Four of those applicants were then selected to create their own vignette within the mural on the side of Entwistle's Community Hall. Goodbye, strange salmon beige walls and sad peeling green doors; it's time for a facelift!

Those young artists will receive two days of in-studio work to help prepare them for the very large task ahead, including preparing a sample of their idea on canvas. The mural will be painted in June and unveiled during Entwistle's annual Canada Day celebrations. The young artists will not only get a stunning piece to show off in their burgeoning portfolios, but also a healthy and deserved dose of confidence and new skills, as well as the sort of encouragement to create art that so many need but don't always get.

Brie hopes that the Entwistle Community Hall project will help spread her message that places to make art are truly as valuable and clearly desired by the community, just as the many sports-based facilities that already exist. With a little luck and enough people making the time to explore their creativity, the updated Community Hall could become a centre for the arts to be envied and admired across rural Alberta. But there is still a lot of work ahead to make that happen. We need to make it clear that our rural artists need access to funding, support, and spaces to show work, with reduced barriers to grow and be successful in the industry. Young and wise, they need as much support and cheering on as our local sports teams.

There are certainly many who are reading this article that could benefit from these changes, and Brie wants to encourage them to trust themselves and their creativity. After all, the act of creating art and expressing yourself in a different medium is proven to be helpful for mental health, and doing so socially can be surprisingly validating.

If you want to come and see the new collaborative Entwistle Community Centre mural or some of Brie's other works, consider visiting us on July 1st, 2025, for the grand reveal happening after the parade. We look forward to seeing you.

HOME SECURITY

- * Turn off the telephone ringer so no one knows your home is empty.
- * Lock and check doors and windows.
- * Have your newspapers and mail stopped while you are away.
- * Make your home look lived in - put lights, radios and TVs on variable timers and have a neighbour remove junk mail.
- * Don't leave notes outside.
- * Lock up tools, BBQS and ladders and put them out of sight.
- * Make sure your hedges are trimmed so as not to provide cover for burglars.
- * Make sure the exterior of your home is well lit.
- * Let a trustworthy neighbour know when you are gone for holidays and leave an emergency contact number.

TIPS TO AVOID IDENTITY THEFT

- 1) Before you reveal any personally identifying information, find out how it will be used and if it will be shared.
- 2) Pay attention to your billing cycles. Follow up with creditors if your bills don't arrive on time.
- 3) Guard your mail. Deposit outgoing mail in post office collections boxes or at your local post office. Promptly remove mail from your mailbox after delivery. Ensure mail is forwarded or re-routed if you move or change your mailing address.
- 4) Utilize passwords on your credit card, bank and phone accounts. Avoid using easily available information like your mother's maiden name, your birth date, the last four digits of your SIN or your phone number.
- 5) Minimize the identification information and number of cards you carry.
- 6) Do not give out personal information on the phone, through the mail or over the internet unless you have initiated the contract or know whom you're dealing with.
- 7) Keep items with personal information in a safe place. An identity thief will pick through your garbage or recycling bins. Be sure to tear or shred receipts, copies of credit applications, insurance forms, physician statements and credit offers you get in the mail.
- 8) Give your SIN only when absolutely necessary; ask you use other types of identifiers when possible.
- 9) Don't carry your SIN card; leave it in a secure place.

That's what it takes to help prevent crime. During Crime Prevention Week, do what you can to keep your home, neighborhood and workplace safe.

When away from home for extended periods:

- Install timers on a few inside and outside lights.
- Hold mail and newspaper delivery or donate it to a school or hospital.
- Have a trusted friend or neighbor look after your home.

Around the house:

- Do not leave tools or ladders outside your home.
- Make sure external doors and frames are sturdy. Steel or 1 3/8"-thick wood is preferable.
- Installing a security system can add extra protection against crime, fire or accidents.

In the neighborhood:

- Join a neighborhood watch committee, and ask local law enforcement for assistance.
- Get to know your neighbors. It will instill a sense of community and help everyone feel safer.
- Report any suspicious neighborhood activity to the police.

SEXUAL VIOLENCE AWARENESS MONTH: MINISTERS TURTON AND FIR

Submitted by Government of Alberta

Minister of Children and Family Services Searle Turton and Minister of Arts, Culture and Status of Women Tanya Fir issued the following statement recognizing Sexual Violence Awareness Month:

“Every Albertan deserves to live a life free from sexual violence and abuse. Sexual Violence Awareness Month reminds us that we all have a role to play in supporting survivors and taking a stand against sexual violence.

“Data from the Association of Alberta Sexual Assault Services shows that almost 1.8 million Albertans have experienced some form of sexual violence in their lifetime. That’s why we are working to provide supports that help survivors heal and prevent sexual violence before it can begin.

“If you or someone you know is experiencing sexual violence, you are not alone. You can call or text the Alberta One Line for Sexual Violence at 1-866-403-8000 daily from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. or visit your local sexual assault centre for support. You can also visit alberta.ca/sexual-violence-prevention for downloadable resources and tips to help recognize, report and prevent sexual violence.

“Alberta’s government continues to support survivors by providing more than $88 million through

Budget 2025 to prevent family and sexual violence – including an additional $1.5 million to sexual assault centres across the province and the Association of Alberta Sexual Assault Services.

“To make sure that children and youth across Alberta are supported on their healing journey, the government also invests almost $3.4 million every year in child and youth advocacy centres. This helps more survivors access key services across the province including crisis intervention supports, counselling, police and court support, outreach and advocacy.

“Together, we can keep our communities safe from sexual violence and let survivors know they are believed and supported.”

Searle Turton, Minister of Children and Family Services

“Forty-five percent of Albertans have experienced sexual violence in their lifetime and it needs to stop.

“Sexual Violence Awareness Month is a powerful reminder of our shared responsibility to support survivors, challenge harmful norms and prevent violence before it starts.

“Alberta’s government is committed to ending gender-based violence in all its forms by advancing a culture of respect, understanding and support.

“Through my ministry, we will finalize a comprehensive 10-year strategy to end gender-based violence that will guide long-term, provincewide action to address these underreported crimes.

Our strategy will provide a clear roadmap to close service gaps, improve collaboration among partners and strengthen prevention and response efforts.

“We are building on the incredible work already underway – across our government, in front-line agencies and through community organizations and advocates who demonstrate unwavering courage and compassion every day.

“I look forward to releasing this strategy soon and continuing to make meaningful strides toward ending gender-based violence in Alberta.

“This month and every month, we stand firmly – in solidarity, in action and in hope – determined to stop sexual violence in all its forms.

“Ending gender-based violence is possible – and it begins with all of us.”

Tanya Fir, Minister of Arts, Culture and Status of Women

Use these helpful tips to help keep our community a safe, enjoyable place. Look around your home, school or office and see where you can make a difference.

- Start teaching children at an early age how to avoid drugs and alcohol.
 - Get children involved in organized after-school programs.
 - Start, join or reactivate a neighborhood watch program.
- Be aware of your surroundings, especially when walking alone at night.
- Participate in forums which involve local officials, such as city council meetings.
 - Reach out to crime victims, their families or others in the community who need support.
- Get to know your neighbors - you may find others with an interest in safety, too.
 - Be familiar with members of your local police and fire departments.
 - Make sure all street lights in your area are in working order. Alert local officials if they are not.
 - Set up buddy systems for teens going out after dark.
- Keep an eye out for strange vehicles parked in your area at odd hours or for long periods of time
- Make sure all young children know how to handle possible confrontations with strangers.
